FIGURING STATE INCOME TAX

The new Nebraska state income tax will be 10 percent of Line 12 of the federal income tax return less the $7 per person food sales tax credit. Shown above is a hypothetical calculation of the tax for a couple with two children who have an income of $8,000 per year.

Talk Of Sales Tax Hike Brings Mixed Reaction

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

Prospects of an increase in Nebraska's sales tax to 3% by 1969 brought varied reactions from state senators Wednesday.

Sen. Rick Budd of Nebraska City, chairman of the Legislature's Revenue Committee, said, "A 3% sales tax rate should have been set originally."

"That was the committee's recommendation, and the 2½% voted by the Legislature was just holding a carrot before the taxpayers," he said.

Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff echoed Budd's views, but also suggested the state's individual income tax rate "should never have been set at less than 15% to begin with."

A 10% individual income tax rate was set earlier Wednesday by the State Board of Equalization with indications the level could be maintained with a sales tax boost to 3% by Jan. 1, 1969. (See story Page 10.)

But, Sen. Fred Carstens of Beatrice said, "Gov. (Norbert) Tiemann had better make sure he has support for a 3% sales tax before he calls a special session."

Tiemann has hinted he will call a special session in late 1968 to avoid further juggling of the sales tax rate which is otherwise scheduled to decrease to 2% in 1969.

Carstens, who sponsored an LB377 amendment for the reduced rate, said he thinks its too early to speculate on need for an increase.

Opposed

Sen. Stanley A. Matske of Milford said he "was opposed to a special session on the sales tax, or any special session."

Omaha Sen. Gene Mahoney, who voted against the sales-income bill, said, "I would hate to see a 3% sales tax because it would hit the people least able to pay."

However, Sen. Albert Kjar of Lexington, another revenue committee member, said he had opposed the 2½% rate in view of the committee's recommendation for 3%.

Greater Burden

"Unless the sales tax rate is increased, the income tax is bearing a greater burden than anticipated," he said in noting floor discussion had indicated a 6 to 8% income rate.

Sen. Eric Rasmussen of Fairmont said he opposed a 3% rate in the regular session, "but I'm willing to consider the need for an adjustment."

The lawmaker said "revenues from the sales tax and income tax should be nearly equal as possible."

The revenue committee member also noted income rates set by the state board were higher than anticipated by the committee.

Later Bills

However, he noted that state aid to education and local government enacted after the tax bill is contributing to the necessity for rate adjustments.

Carpenter said he anticipates the income tax will raise less than expected while the sales tax will bring in more.

Carstens also said he was unhappy with the low corporate income rate in relation to the individual income tax.

The individual will find his state income tax withheld from wages "whether he is making ends meet or not," the senator said, while this is not true of corporations, which pay only on taxable earnings.

Burbach's Reply To 3% Tax Talk— 'I Told Him So'

The chairman of the Legislature's Tax Study Committee said Wednesday Gov. Tiemann's proposed sales tax hike would not be necessary if he had listened to legislative leaders last spring when the sales-income tax bill was under consideration.

"The Revenue Committee, of which I was chairman, specifically told the governor a 3% sales tax would be needed but he insisted on 2.5%. He said his cash flow indicators showed that would do the job," said Sen. Jules W. Burbach of Crofton.

"Now we find out that 2.5% won't do the job after all; that a 3% rate is necessary. I don't want to sound nasty or anything like that, but let me say: "I told him so.' "

"A country paper speaks of a man 'who died without the aid of a physician,' and adds, such instances are very rare." —Omaha Daily News.

House Raises Its Pay

. . . VOTE 318-89

Washington (UPI) — The House, setting aside its economy drive, voted Wednesday night to give two million federal workers a $2.6 billion pay raise tied to a measure that would boost postal rates by $890 million a year.

The measure, which now goes to the Senate, would give 1.2 million white collar government employes a 4.5% pay increase and 715,000 postal workers a 6% raise, both retroactive to Oct. 1.

OEO Workers Excluded

Only 2,800 employes of the Office of Economic Opportunity, the antipoverty agency that currently is in disfavor with House members, were specifically excluded from the salary boosts for federal workers.

In addition to the immediate raise, second and third-stage pay increases are guaranteed on July 1, 1968, and April 1, 1969.

The subsequent raises would give the white collar workers additional increases estimated at 12.7% boost and postal workers an estimated 6.2% more.

Passes 318 to 89

The bill passed 318 to 89 on the anticlimactic roll call after a proposal to send the pay raise portion of the measure back to committee failed on a cliff-hanger vote of 199 to 211.

Voting for recommital were 64 Democrats and 135 Republicnas, including Reps. Robert Denney and Dave Martin of Nebraska. Voting against were 166 Democrats and 45 Republicans including Rep. Glenn Cunningham of Nebraska.

The catch-all bill also provides for congressmen to get salary increases semiautomatically every four years.

Under the proposal, the president, acting on advice from a citizens commission, would recommend salary levels for himself, Congress and for the judicial branch, and his proposals would go into effect automatically unless disapproved within 30 days by either house.

Under the postal portion of the measure, the cost of mailing a letter or postal card would go up a penny each, airmail letters and greeting cards up two-cents each, news publications 23% over three years and business mailings, including so-called junk mail 32% in one year, effective next January.

Lobbyists for postal and civil service unions packed a section of the public galleries throughout the debate.

HUMPHREY: 'Youth Power' Strong

Kansas City, Mo. (UPI) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey said Wednesday the United States must be as willing to fight poverty at home as it is to resist aggressiveness and lawlessness abroad.

The vice president spoke in terms of "youth power" as the most explosive and dynamic force in the nation. He addressed 10,000 members attending the 40th annual Future Farmers of America convention.

Humphrey then motored to nearby Independence, Mo., for a scheduled 30-minute visit with former President and Mrs. Harry S Truman.

Checks Not Answer

Humphrey told the FFA that "checkbook diplomacy is no answer to international, state or family problems.

"International questions aren't solved by money but by service, by diplomacy and by careful attention to the needs of human beings. Likewise, domestic problems are not solved by money but by a search for the causes and service to humanity," he said.

Humphrey called the United States "the last great hope in the world" and called on the Future Farmers to be leaders in the nation.

Rural Roots

"We can have real freedom of choice in America," he said. "The challenge is to put our technology and resources to work in the right combination, in the right places . . . many of our urban problems have their roots in the rural problems . . ."

Improving rural conditions, he said, means airports to handle short-hop jets, community colleges, modern hospitals and good doctors and "the very best" in education, along with recreation opportunities.

Humphrey said government can help by applying the "economic weight" of defense and other contracts, by offering tax incentives, subsidies and new programs of cooperative partnership between government and business.

New Vietnamese Cabinet To Have Few Military Men

© New York Times Service

Saigon — Military men will hold no more than two or possibly three posts in President-elect Nguyen Van Thieu's cabinet, government sources disclosed Wednesday.

This would represent a substantial change from the present military regime, in which Gen. Thieu has acted as chief of state since June, 1965. Seven positions are now held by generals or colonels.

In other respects, however, the new government will resemble the old. According to Thieu's present ideas, which may change before he announces the cabinet later this month, at least three major officials will retain their present jobs.

These three, the sources said, are:

—Gen. Co Van Vien, defense minister and chief of the joint general staff.

—Tran Van Do. the foreign minister.

—Nguyen Huu Hanh, governor of the national bank and minister of economics.

Analysts believe that the senior generals of the army, though lacking either cabinet posts or constitutional political status, will continue to exert a strong influence on Thieu.

The army delivered the core of the votes by which the president-elect defeated his civilian rivals Sept. 3, and the army still forms the only well-organized non-Communist national political force. Whether the generals will apply pressure on the new regime informally or through a council has not been decided.

Loc Probable Premier

Nguyen Van Loc, a 42-year-old lawyer, will probably be appointed premier to succeed Vice President-elect Nguyen Cao Ky. Loc, a native of Vinh Long Provine in the Mekong Delta and a nominal Buddhist, went to law school in France and served briefly with the Viet Minh in its war against French colonialism.

Loc, president of the rubber-stamp army people's council, fits the equation necessary to "balance" Thieu — he is a civilian, a Buddhist and a Southerner whereas Thieu is a military man, a Roman Catholic and a native of Phan Rang in central Vietnam.

In addition, Loc is a devoted ally of Air Marshal Ky.

The U.S. Embassy and civilian politicians had hoped Thieu would name as prime minister someone more widely known, perhaps one of the defeated presidential nominees, as a unity gesture.

The major unfilled post at the moment, the sources said, is a crucial one—minister of revolutionary development, with responsibility for the pacification program. This job, vacated recently by Maj. Gen. Nguyen Duc Thang, will be filled by another general.

A spot may also be found for Maj. Gen. Nguyen Bao Tri, the information minister, a loyal supporter of the junta.

New Fairgrounds Layout, Longer Race Meet Urged

By Associated Press

Scottsbluff Sen. Terry Carpenter proposed Wednesday that the state scrap its present State Fairgrounds layout in Lincoln and "start all over again" at a new location in the Lincoln area.

He said a new and "most modern" fairgrounds complex, near the Interstate highway, could set the stage for Nebraska to become the location for "the greatest agricultural state fair" among the 50 states.

The present fairgrounds complex is "old, dilapidated and lacking modernization," but the land, in the heart of Lincoln, is so valuable that its sale could give a strong sendoff to development of the new complex, he said.

About 260 Acres

The present fairgrounds encompasses about 260 acres.

Carpenter said some of it could well be used to meet present or future needs of the University of Nebraska nearby.

Sold to subdividers for housing development, the land would bring sizable returns, he noted, or it would be valuable also as an industrial development area.

The new complex should include a horse racing plant versatile enough to be used for other attractions, possibly even big league baseball, Carpenter said.

Long As Ak-Sar-Ben

The State Fairgrounds racing season should be extended to run as long as does the Ak-Sar-Ben meet in Omaha, he said.

Ak-Sar-Ben's meet this year ran for 44 racing days; the Lincoln meet, 23.

Carpenter said he would advocate that the state pari-mutuel tax now collected on the Lincoln race meet be turned back to the State Fair Board so money could be used to help pay off indebtedness incurred in developing the new plant.

Location near the Interstate will "make it easier for Omaha people to patronize the races," he said, and "might have a tendency to draw Omaha and Lincoln closer together."

Complex In Future

The proposed merger of the University of Nebraska and University of Omaha might have a similar effect and ultimately the state's two largest cities might find themselves joined in a sort of "metropolitan complex," he said.

The proposed development would not interfere with use of the University's Memorial Stadium for football games, and judicious location of the fairgrounds might even help provide parking for Memorial Stadium football fans, he said.

The state fair "is growing in importance," and pouring funds into further development of the present fairgrounds would be "a waste of money," Carpenter said.

Over-all, the new development would provide "a phenomenal attraction for this community," he declared.

"I hope it will be explored."

Campus-Style State Office Setup Urged

By United Press International

A legislative study committee and the Capitol Building Commission Wednesday endorsed a campus-style state office building complex instead of a single, high-rise structure.

The action came at a joint meeting of the groups and after a three-hour discussion of present and future state office space needs.

Heretofore the Legislature and commission had been thinking in terms of a single building a block north of the Capitol on 15th St.

The site will remain the same but there now will be more than one building erected in the area. This, the groups agreed, will permit orderly expansion as space needs increase.

The 1967 Legislature authorized the commission to enter into an agreement with the City of Lincoln to finance construction through revenue bonds.

The city will issue the bonds and the state will retire the obligation on a long-term basis, gaining full title to the property and buildings after the entire debt is repaid.

The commission and committee also agreed to:

—Appoint a three-member committee composed of out-of-state architects to nominate Nebraska firms to design the buildings. This was done to avoid conflict of interest.

—Extend a contract with a New York consulting firm, Ebasco, Inc., to study future state space needs.

Ebasco estimated the state will need 500,000-square-feet of additional office space by 1987, or 44,000-square-feet more than the Capitol presently contains.

Egypt 80% Resupplied By Reds, Says Israeli

(C) New York Times News Service

Jerusalem—Premier Levi Eshkol said the Soviet Union had resupplied the United Arab Republic with 80% of the planes, tanks and artillery it lost during the six-day war in June. He also said Syria's arsenal was nearly equal to its pre-war level and added: "This influx of Soviet weapons has again upset the balance of power in the Middle East. It has made our position more precarious and made it all the more important that the Western powers permit us to buy the weapons we need to defend ourselves."

A boost in postal rates was coupled with the pay rise. (More on Page 1).

Unemployment Increase Biggest In Five Years

Washington (AP) — The nation's unemployment rate took its biggest monthly jump in five years in September, rising to 4.1%, but the Labor Department described the overall job picture as "still strong."

Commissioner Arthur M. Ross of the Bureau of Labor Statistics said Wednesday the 0.3% rise in the joblessness rate last month was almost entirely due to "a rather fantastic increase" of women entering the job force because of rising employment opportunities.

Total civilian employment in September was 74.6 million, about 100,000 less than expected for the month, largely because of the side effects of the Ford Motor Co. strike and teachers strikes in Detroit and New York.

Strikers are not counted as unemployed, but neither are they listed on payrolls as employed under Labor Department statistics.

Ross said that since the general economic pickup began last May the female labor force climbed 1.1 million.

When usual seasonal factors were taken into account, the rise in women seeking jobs totaled 1.4 million, he said. But he added that some of the rise might be due to changed statistical definitions that went into effect this year.

3.5% For Negro Men

The bureau also reported the unemployment rate for Negro men dropped to 3.5%, the lowest figure since it began keeping separate figures for whites and Negroes in 1954.

It was also the first time the unemployment rate for Negro men was lower than the overall national rate.

But the total joblessness rate for Negroes, including women and teen-agers, remained at 7.9%, more than double the overall 3.6% figure for all white workers.

Report On Che Raises Questions

© New York Times Service

La Paz, Bolivia—A medical report indicated Wednesday that Ernesto Che Guevara was slain at least 24 hours after his capture in the southeastern jungle Sunday.

The medical evidence points to a serious discrepancy between the nature of the wounds on the body described as that of the guerrilla leader and the statement of Gen. Alfredo Ovando Candia, the Bolivian military commander, that Guevara died Monday, a day after the clash.

According to Dr. Moises Abraham, who prepared the military medical report on the guerrilla's death, the body had seven bullet wounds. They included mortal wounds in both lungs and a shot directly through the heart. There was also a massive contusion on the back, the doctor said, which could have been caused by a blow with a rifle butt.

It is considered impossible that Guevara, an associate of Premier Fidel Castro of Cuba, could have lived even five minutes with such wounds.

'Wizard Okayed Murder'

Meridian, Miss. (AP) — A pudgy, balding Meridian police sergeant, styling himself a paid informer for the FBI, testified Wednesday a Ku Klux Klansman told him the imperial wizard of the Klan's White Knights approved the "elimination" of one of three civil rights workers killed in 1964.

Sgt. Wallace Miller emerged as a surprise witness in the conspiracy trial of 18 white men charged in the deaths of the three workers during Mississippi's racially troubled summer of 1964.

Miller said Edgar Ray Killen, one of the defendants, told him that imperial wizard Sam H. Bowers, 42, of Laurel, Miss. authorized the "elimination" of Michael Schwerner, 24, a field worker for the Congress of Racial Equality. Bowers also is a defendant.

Elimination, Miller said, was a term for murder.

Schwerner, Andrew Goodman, 20, both white New Yorkers, and James Chaney, 21, a Meridian Negro died of gunshot wounds June 21, 1964, a few hours after they were arrested, then released in Philadelphia, Miss., the government contends. They had inspected ruins of a burned Negro church earlier in the day.

"Mr. Killen told me they (the three workers) were shot, and dead, and buried about 15 feet in the dam," Miller told the jury. He said the conversation took place June 28, 1964.

Vietnamese War Heats Up In Northern Sectors

Saigon (AP)—The war heated up again Wednesday in the northern border sectors where U.S. Marines have built up supplies and manpower against a possible enemy thrust during the coming monsoon storms.

Communist troops killed seven Americans and wounded 16 in a sharp attack before dawn with mortars and small arms on a Leatherneck company bivouacked six miles east of Quang Tri City, a provincial capital 19 miles south of the demilitarized zone.

The Marines battled them off by the light of parachute flares and star shells. Enemy casualties were undetermined.

Red artillery and mortars based in and north of the DMZ, which were hammered hard by massive American counterfire through September, cut loose Tuesday with 74 rounds on Con Thien and other forward Marine outposts. The U.S. command said these shells, including 100-pounders from Russian-built 152mm cannon, wounded 26 Marines, most of them slightly.

U.S. B52 Stratofortresses dumped tons of bombs before dawn on two suspected Communist positions, one four miles and the other five miles southwest of Con Thien.

The attack on the Marine company east of Quang Tri was a reminder that the 46,000 or so Viet Cong and infiltrated North Vietnamese within the five provinces of the hit-and-run Corps area retain a wide choice of targets for hit-and-run operations, though they are outnumbered nearly 4 to 1.

Farther south units of the U.S. 1st, 9th and 25th Infantry Divisions pushed several search and destroy missions.

The 1st Brigade of the 9th continued to turn up stores of enemy arms from a cache discovered Monday in tunnels under thick jungle 30 miles east of Saigon.

Col. Donald Seibert of College Point, N.Y., the brigade commander, said 200 brand-new Russian sniper rifles were among 675 weapons so far unearthed. The tunnels also have yielded 20,000 rounds of ammunition and various medical and other supplies.

McCormack Hits Critics

© New York Times Service

Washington — Speaker of the House John W. McCormack of Massachusetts denounced congressional critics of the administration's Vietnam policy Wednesday, charging that they were giving comfort to North Vietnam.

The denunciation, delivered in a table-pounding speech, drew a standing ovation from some 100 representatives on the House floor.

In the Senate, the criticism continued as Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., complained that the Vietnam war had engendered " an unhealthy atmosphere of suspicion and recrimination" in the nation and had turned "the Great Society into a sick society."

McCormack's speech fitted into a developing administration strategy, first signalled earlier this week by Democratic National Chairman John M. Bailey, of launching a counterattack against the Vietnam critics. Secretary of State Dean Rusk scheduled a news conference for Thursday, with the primary purpose of replying to critics of the administration's policy.

Earlier, Rep. Emmanuel Celler, D-N.Y., had objected to the "vituperative excesses" of some of the administration critics.

In another brief speech to the House, Rep. Claude Pepper, D-Fla., called for "A cease-fire on vitriolic attacks" on the President and proposed that the critics "at least halt the bombing of the President from Congress for 30 days."

Drinking Overhaul Suggested

© New York Times Service

New York — A government-sponsored study Wednesday recommended a national policy to promote drinking in a family setting and to reduce to 18 the legal age for the buying and drinking of alcoholic beverages in public.

The proposals were part of a "total alcohol program" aiming at deliberate "changes in American drinking patterns" to prevent development of problem drinkers — now held to number millions in the United States.

The study was conducted over the last five years with a $1 million grant from the National Institute of Mental Health by a 21-member Cooperative Commission on the Study of Alcoholism.

The 200-page report drew strong endorsement from the National Council of Churches.

One proposal by the commission is to "assist young people to adapt themselves realistically to a predominantly 'drinking' society."

The 21-year-old age limit is "largely unenforceable," and "creates a basically hypocritical situation," the commission said.

With an 18-year-old minimum, it argued, liquor could be available on college campuses "in a more reasonable, healthier context," reducing the hazard of students piling into a car to drive to an outside bar.

Gamble-Skogmo To Merge With J. M. McDonald Co.

Hastings (AP) — Merger of the J. M. McDonald Co. of Hastings with Gamble-Skogmo, Inc., of Minneapolis, subject to approval of McDonald stockholders, was announced Wednesday.

J. M. McDonald Jr., chairman of the board of McDonald's, and B. C. Gamble, chairman of Gamble-Skogmo, said the merger agreement calls for exchange of 315,000 shares of authorized but unissued Gamble-Skogmo common stock for all the outstanding McDonald stock.

Most of the McDonald stock is held by members of the family and employes.

100 Stores

McDonald's operates about 100 stores, mostly in the western part of the United States, handling exclusively soft-line merchandise such as wearing apparel.

For the fiscal year ending Jan. 31, McDonald reported sales in excess of $31 million, and net income of $730,000 or $1.48 per share. It was organized in 1915.

Gamble-Skogmo, a diversified wholesale, retail and mail order merchandising firm with company owned and franchised stores in the United States and Canada, deals mainly in hard-line merchandise.

Present Management

The company heads said a letter of intent to merge has been approved by both boards of directors and announced that the McDonald company would continue to operate with present management and personnel. There are no plans for changing merchandising or operating facilities.

The transaction is expected to be completed in about 60 days.

Humboldt Plans Oct. 22 Dedication Of New Hospital

Humboldt (UPI) — The new Humboldt Memorial Community Hospital will be dedicated Oct. 22, with Dr. Fay Smith, dean of the College of Medicine, University of Nebraska, Omaha, as the guest speaker.

The program will commence at 2 p.m. with Dr. Harlan S. Heim, of Humboldt as master of ceremonies. An open house will follow the dedication.

The 35-bed hospital is located on an 11-acre tract at the northeast edge of Humboldt. It was completed Oct. 1.

Gary R. Bricker is the administrator.

Anselmo Woman Killed In Accident

Broken Bow (UPI) — Patricia Babcock, 21, of Anselmo, was injured fatally about 6:15 Wednesday morning when she was struck by a car driven by Charlotte Gould of Arcadia approximately two miles east of here on Highway 70.

Custer County Atty. Earl Johnson said that Patricia, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Babcock of Anselmo, was found lying in the westbound lane of the highway. Johnson said Patricia was killed instantly.

Marquette Crash Claims Third Life

Marquette (UPI)—The collision of a car and a pickup truck Tuesday afternoon a mile northwest of here claimed its third life late Tuesday.

The latest victim of the crash was Ronald Burhopp, about 20, of Central City.

A rural Bradshaw couple died in the accident. They were Leland Christiansen, 60, and his 58-year old wife, Virgie. Their car was in collision with a pickup driven by young Burhoop.

Another passenger in the truck, Debbie Cromer, of Central City, was in serious condition at last report at a Central City hospital.

Man Injured In One-Car Crash

An unidentified person was injured in a one-car accident at the intersection of Highways 34 and 79 early Thursday morning, the State Safety Patrol said.

Investigation of the accident by the authorities failed to reveal the cause however, one trooper said that he thought the car probably went out of control and hit a guard rail.

The driver of the car was taken to St. Elizabeth Hospital. He was listed in "fair" condition, hospital authorities said.

West Central Asks For Federal Probe

Omaha (AP) — Robert Lucas, president of West Central Airlines, said Wednesday he will ask the Federal Aviation Agency to investigate the Omaha Airport Authority's refusal to renew his firm's ticket counter lease.

Lucas called the authority's decision discriminatory and said the FAA could cut off federal aid for Omaha's Eppley Airfield if it found the discrimination charge valid.

"As far as we can determine, Omaha is the only city denying ticketing facilities to an air taxi service requesting facilities," Lucas said at a news conference.

Air Taxi

West Central provides air taxi service in Nebraska, Iowa and Kansas.

Ronald B. Grear, airport authority executive director, said the authority decided to restrict ticketing space to airlines operating under Civil Aeronautics Board certificates. West Central does not come under CAB jurisdiction.

Grear said West Central was notified last month that its lease, which expires next month, would not be renewed.

In a letter to Jerry Huse, Norfolk Daily News publisher and a member of West Central's board of directors, Airport Authority Chairman Arthur Storz said the ticketing space in the terminal was allocated on a trial basis only last November.

"Our difficulty in the collection of user fees and obtaining proper reports required that we terminate the agreement," Storz wrote.

Lucas told newsmen his firm had withheld landing fees until last Monday because it questioned the jurisdiction for the charges. West Central has been "the only transient air taxi operator required to pay landing fees" at Eppley, he said.

Continue Operation

"We have no objection to landing fees," Lucas said. "But we feel that all other carriers of our class also should pay them." Lucas said the firm would continue to operate from Eppley Airport without the terminal space.

Lucas said the petition asking for an FAA investigation would be filed Thursday.

Two Omahans Request Transfer Of Job Corps

Omaha (AP) — Two Omaha business leaders suggested Wednesday that the Women's Job Corps Center be transferred from the downtown area of Omaha.

The Job Corps Center occupies the former Regis and Paxton Hotels, about three blocks apart in the downtown retail area.

George T. Wruck, general manager of the Associated Retailers of Omaha, said the federal job training program has hurt the city's image and economy.

Corps 'Harmful'

Alfred C. Kennedy, chairman of the Central Omaha committee, said the Job Corps has been "harmful to downtown."

Job corps officials declined comment pending a meeting with community leaders, possibly next week.

There are about 800 Job Corps girls, aged 16 to 21, living in the two hotels. Sixty percent are Negro, 24 percent are white and 16 percent are Spanish-American, Indian or Oriental, corps officials said.

Large Groups

Wruck said many callers have complained that they have had to walk through large groups of Job Corps girls and the boys they attract.

Wruck said he would like to see the program moved to a location outside the downtown area. "If we could solve some of these discomforts it would be a better program," he said.

He also said loss of the two downtown hotels has handicapped the city.

Solution Sought

Leo Armatis, Job Corps public relations officials, said. "We have known for some time that retailers are upset about groups of youths on the street and we are trying to work out a solution."

Mayor A. V. Sorensen said he would not start or support any effort to have the Job Corps moved out of the downtown area. He said he had discussed the problem with Center Director Robert W. Anderson last week and had suggested that a meeting be set up to discuss it.

Sorensen said he had asked Anderson to reduce the foot traffic in the downtown area, but prior to this meeting the Job Corps had begun providing buses for enrollees traveling between the hotels and had hired more police officials.

Record Crops In 1967 May Mean '68 Cutback

Washington (AP)—The Agriculture Department's October crop report appeared Wednesday to assure a cutback in farm production next year from this year's record level.

Big crops of wheat, corn and other feed grains have replenished reserves and adversely affected producer prices.

Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman is expected to call soon for a reduction in 1968 plantings of feed grains to go along with a previously announced lower production goal for wheat. Only in the case of cotton is a major upturn in plantings expected to be recommended for next year.

The crop report said adverse weather in September in some areas reduced the propective total crop volume about one per cent from the forecast of a month earlier. But the volume will be four percent above last year and two percent above the previous record of 1965.

The prospective harvest of feed grains was increased one million tons to a record high of 176 million tons, or 12 percent more than last year.

Farm leaders have been urging the department to recommend the retirement from production of 30 million acres of feed grain land next year compared with 20 million retired this year.

The wheat acreage goal for next year is 59.3 million acres compared with 68.2 million this year. The wheat crop is estimated at a record high of 1.55 billion bushels, 19 million above last year and seven percent above the previous record of 1958.

But the cotton acreage goal next year is expected to be increased several million acres above this year's low of 8,545,000 acres expected to be harvested. The cotton crop was held down under a program designed to make room in the market for surpluses from previous crops. But that surplus has largely been used up.

IN PERSPECTIVE

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

There is no easy solution to the problem presented in a meeting of Havelock businessmen with members of the City Council. The problem is the long-standing proposal for a Northeast Diagonal, a twin facility to Capital Parkway.

In the most recent engineering analysis of this program, a nearly $20 million freeway project was recommended for ultimate completion in 1985. Basically, the Havelock group has two objections — one, that the time period is too long and, two, that the program is impractical.

The Havelock group could be right on both counts but this is not the answer, either. A third important factor in all of this is what kind of facility is needed, a full freeway with elevated grade crossing, extra turning lanes, etc., or a simple four-lane job at grade level.

The Havelock group believes it could have a simple diagonal, very similar to Capital Parkway, for less than a third of the recommended $20 million project. This could be done more quietly, too, and is envisioned by Havelock as within the reach of the city.

The accuracy of the Havelock belief will be tested probably on Oct. 23. This is the date on which the city's Engineering Department will present to the City Council a cost analysis on a grade crossing plan for the Northeast Diagonal, the kind of plan proposed by Havelock interests.

There is no doubt that professional city administrative forces will favor the more advanced and complicated grade separation plan for the diagonal. Nor is there any doubt that this plan would be recommended by any expert on the subject.

Now, we can scoff at experts if we like but it is a little foolish to do so. The matter of experts can be carried to extremes and there certainly comes a time for decision, but the expert advice should not be lightly discarded.

The expert advice in the case of the Northeast Diagonal is for a full freeway development. We cast this advice aside only with the knowledge that we are building up for ourselves problems in the future, that we are practicing some form of false economy.

Projected traffic demands show that the kind of facility advocated by the Havelock group will be well overburdened long before the structure has outlived its years. Thus, we would be spending somewhere in the neighborhood of $6 million for a facility we knew would not do the total job.

But to do this total job would require more money than the city can currently lay its hands on. Lincoln simply does not have $20 million for this project, nor anything near that in thinking of some federal and state aid on the project.

There are two courses of action open to the city on this score. One is an immediate improvement of the city's street improvement income picture, including revenue and possibly general obligation bonds. The latter would require a vote of the people.

The second route is to hold off diagonal work until the income picture might be improved through more federal funds and state funds flowing into urban centers. This could well be the picture by 1972 and thereafter but this would carry completion of the diagonal nearly into 1990.

This waiting for an improved economic picture seems totally unrealistic and unfair to us. Thus, the council is left with only one real choice if it wants to build the kind of Northeast Diagonal that is needed — a crash program that would undoubtedly call for a vote by the people on financing.

The council should either do this as quickly as possible or adopt the recommendations of the Havelock group. By "quickly," we means weeks, not months or years. You cannot effectively challenge the Havelock claim of diagonal delays beyond reason.

"Part Of What You Pay Is For What You Mail, And Part Is For What He Mails To You"

Governor's Position Deplorable

The position taken by Gov. Norbert Tiemann on the matter of an alleged violation of the Hatch Act by one state official represents a deplorable situation. What was a legal challenge by Democrats has been turned by Tiemann into a racial matter that was never intended or considered.

Democrats had maintained, with some cause, that State Technical Assistance Director Sam Cornelius was in violation of the federal Hatch Act by his participation in active political affairs in the GOP organizational structure. It is reasoned that Cornelius, a Negro, comes under the Hatch Act because the department he heads is supported very largely by federal Office of Economic Opportunity funds.

But Tiemann simply stated flatly that Cornelius was not in violation of any laws Then, he went on to assert that the Democrats had attacked Cornelius simply because he was a Negro.

This is a fantastic thing for the governor to say and is a sneaky effort by him to make political gain out of the troublesome racial issue. In doing this, Tiemann contributes to further racial problems in Nebraska by planting the seeds of mistrust and disillusionment among Negro groups.

Just as the color of his skin should close no doors to Cornelius, it grants him no exemptions from the law. The fact that he is a Negro has nothing at all to do with any possible violation of the Hatch Act. The governor should have examined the possibilities of such a violation and has degraded the dignity of his office with his injection of race into the subject.

Scrooges Organize To End Tips

The National Observer story began, "Another organization has sprung to life in the rich earth of Southern California." Your first reaction, of course, is that Lassie has decided to run for Congress (and is favored to win). As it turns ont, however, the organization is a bunch of Scrooges who have gotten together to eliminate tipping.

The No Tipping Society is the brainchild of one B. A. Sweet. Dues are $2 a year. Sweet won't say exactly why he's against tipping, but he says it's a form of conformity and, besides, waiter and waitresses (he says) are paid enough, anyhow. Instead of leaving the tip, the organization says, leave a card which says:

"We are not leaving a tip because we do not believe in it in principle. We believe that the salary you receive is a good one. If not, demand more from your employer. His charges are plenty."

The society doesn't say so, but if you leave a card like that in lieu of a tip, your next move is to run, not walk, to the nearest exit.

It is true that tipping can be a drag (been in a railroad club car lately?) but that doesn't mean it should be abolished. Instead, the customer should adopt a policy of selective tipping. The waitress who smiles, brings extra coffee, gives prompt and courteous service, and in general makes your meal more pleasant should be rewarded for service above and beyond the call of duty. On the other hand, the surly type whose eye you can never catch when you want something deserves to live off her salary.

And that's another thing. The No Tipping Society is wrong if it believes the salaries of waiters and waitresses are high enough. These are not well-paid persons, and as for demanding more money from their employers, well, there are enough people waiting around for jobs that the employer is in a position to reject any such demands.

So why not leave a tip? It might mean better service next time.

Patchwork Prairie Country

The first light frost has powdered the lowlands and gardens. Blades of grass were jewel-encrusted this morning. After a crisp dawn, the mist slowly lifted from the meadow. When the sun touched the meadow grass, it seemed as if a silvery carpet had been spread to the horizon. The slow-winding stream sparkled across the pasture, like a silver ribbon waiting to tie a bow around a package labeled "Autumn."

The touch of frost will set the green leaves of summer ablaze with color, although many of them have already changed into soft shades of yellow and red. Frost only intensifies the coloration and transforms the landscape into brilliant fairy-tale settings.

There is a mellowness in October . . . a soft peaceful pause between growth and the long winter sleep. It bids us to walk slowly and carefully so we have time to relish every wisp of delightful change from the Harvest Moon to high noon on a hillside. October begs us to go slowly by the wayside where the sumac is flaunting its red banners and the pheasants rocket from the thicket.

Today the big bulldozer came to push out two rows of trees that surround the old place on the hill. I snatched a few moments from my work to watch the huge machine at work. The old trees bowed reluctantly to the mechanical monster, then fell with a great shudder to the ground. There are two rows of trees remaining surrounding the immediate area of the house. These will be left until all the buildings are removed.

Trees have a way of sapping the ground of moisture and nutrients quite some distance into the cropland. The Farmer has been intending to have these trees through his field removed for some time but bulldozers are very difficult to obtain since so much ground leveling for irrigation is being done. Once the machine and operator have begun the work, it progresses very rapidly. A column of smoke, an increased roar of the motor, a snapping of roots and branches and another tree falls to the ground.

Now with the cooler nights and crisp mornings, it has brought the snakes out in search of sunlight and warmth. This morning when I went up to the old place to watch the men work, I was surprised to see a garter snake curled up on the back steps. It was basking in the sun oblivious to the world around it. I almost stepped on it.

Although I know these snakes are harmless and allow them to live in my garden in peace, I never see one without gasping and stepping back in fright. If I am so afraid of a snake, I often wonder how the snake must feel when it sees me . . . a giant by comparison.

Later today I saw another one curled up in the bright sunlight at the end of the lane. It slithered quickly into the grass when I passed by. Soon all the snake clan will gather beneath a rock or crevice in a roadbank for their last family reunion of the season. Then they will hibernate for the winter.

I have potted narcissus in several bowls of pebbles and sand for winter forcing. Within six to eight weeks I should have lovely fresh flowers blooming. While I had bulb fever, I set hyacinths in pots of soil for forcing also and set them in a cool dark place in the basement. When the winds blow chill from the north and the snowdrifts about the house, I will be rewarded by having spring step into my living room.

I moved three geranium plants indoors. All three have buds forming so instead of taking cuttings from the old plants, I decided I would bring the entire plant into the house. After they have bloomed I can take slips from the parent plants and start new geraniums. If my green thumb serves me right, I should have new plants for border placements next spring.

The Expose

Tekamah, Neb.

It has been said that reason obeys itself while ignorance submits to whatever is dictated to it.

It is a well known matter of record that the "Farm Bureau Insurance Corp." first began to implement this process when they promoted lower farm prices under the obviously flimsy guise of their "flexible price support program." Undoubtedly many of the original farmer-promoters of this well planned massive thievery have themselves long since been robbed into bankruptcy and to this extent at least there has been that degree of ironic justice. Considering the $20-a-year dues these farmers have contributed to their own financial ruin, perhaps a Seeing Eye dog would have been much cheaper and surely could have served them better.

Considering the recent rather thorough expose of the Farm Bureau by what is perhaps the most commendable one-man investigation in the history of the United States Congress, it would seem that most farmer members of this so-called farm organization would have had faces to match their little red stop signs. Perhaps if these farmers could be prevailed upon to add the words "and think" beneath the word "stop," their sign would begin to serve some useful purpose.

Early-Day Orphans

Hastings, Neb.

The news report that the late George Morris, former state institutions director, had been brought into Nebraska with a group of orphans, in charge of the Children's Aid Society of New York and later adopted and reared by Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Morris of Albion should be of great interest to other Nebraskans who were also brought here by that society.

Some of those orphans placed with farm families for "parental care only" were not adopted, although there was an agreement that they would get a horse and buggy if they stayed with the family until they reached the age of 18.

Many of the orphans, like other farm boys, attended school 20 to 60 days during the school year, as they stayed out of school until the last ear of corn was in the crib and on March 1, their school days ended so they could get into the fields for spring work. While the orphans were working on the farm, the guardians sent their own children to college.

But the orphans had learned to laugh at adversities, so their lack of education in Nebraska public schools didn't bother them, at all. In a Polk County school district, some neighbors were bitterly opposed to their being allowed to attend the district public school.

Most of the orphans stayed until they were 18 but the promise of a horse and buggy became a hoax. So they left to work for other farmers, who fed and housed them very well and also paid them well for their labor. In some cases, the farmers furnished them a driving horse or team and buggy.

Many of those former orphans are in retirement in Nebraska. They get great consolation from knowing that all is well that ends well. What more could they ask?

Tax Matter Looms As Election Fodder

WASHINGTON — At the start of the tax increase battle many weeks ago, Rep. Melvin Laird, the shrewd Republican operator who understands the tides of opinion and prejudice in the House as well as anyone in either party, was saying the tax boost would not be approved until February or March of 1968. The President would need approximately 60 Republican votes for passage and they would not be forthcoming until then.

That is where it stands today, and for the President it is an impossible situation. Even the full 10% surcharge, and this is unlikely, will be too little and too late, coming on the eve of the election campaign.

The demand for a cut of $5 billion in non-defense spending is a political war cry. Nothing like this amount is possible short of dismantling programs already inadequate to stem the decay in the cities and relieve the growing frustration and hostility in the Negro ghettos.

With a war costing closer to $3 billion a month than $2 billion, it is a question of priorities and this Johnson has never resolved. The priority the liberals in Congress put at the top of the list is tax reform. They do not believe the private assurance from the Treasury that tax reforms are being drafted to be presented after the surcharge is approved.

In any event they are convinced that the whoppingest loophole of all will be excluded so long as there is a Texan in the White House. That is the 27% depletion allowance for oil and a host of minerals that benefit with one percentage or another. The depletion allowance is the source of the biggest after-tax incomes in the country.

This kind of big-money maneuver sharpens the contrast with the President's request for an across-the-board tax increase hitting everyone except those in the very lowest brackets. Although the liberals' demand to close the tax loopholes will be ignored, in the showdown next year many may nevertheless vote for the tax increase. That is what Douglas says he would do if he were in the Senate today.

Without a tax increase, the deficit will be close to $30 billion. The banks will then have no recourse but to finance this with checkbook money. The total quantity of money in circulation will be greater than the supply of goods and this is the definition of inflation.

The path to the dead end in which the President finds himself is strewn with might-have-beens. In December of 1965, Chairman William McChesney Martin of the Federal Reserve Board was urging the President to propose a tax increase in the following year. He pointed to the danger of inflation in paying for the Vietnam war through deficit financing.

A tax increase proposed in January, 1966, would in all probability have been passed by the middle of the year. A sober case could have been made for fiscal responsibility. While Democrats up for re-election would have been unhappy, they could hardly have taken a worse beating than in fact they did in November.

That is melancholy hindsight. The tax increase has now been projected into next year's presidential contest. Combined with a deficit that may even with the surcharge top $20 billion, it will be an ominous backdrop for the President and the members of his party who must run with him.

McCormack Blocks Reorganization Bill; Now Opposed To Reform Of Any Nature

WASHINGTON — That implacable foe of reform, Speaker John McCormack, Boston Democrat, has bottled up the congressional reorganization bill which the Senate accepted by a whopping 75-to-9 vote. The House would approve the bill overwhelmingly if the speaker would pass the word to the rules committee to free it for a roll-call vote.

The bill would overhaul the creaky congressional machinery and strip the committee chairmen of some of their arbitrary powers. Naturally the chairmen, who rose to power because of their ability to outlive their colleagues, are opposed to having their wings clipped. McCormack, now 76, who rose the same way, is glad to help them thwart the majority by burying the measure in the rules committee.

Earlier this year, the aging speaker tried to save Adam Clayton Powell from losing his chairmanship; also defended Sen. Tom Dodd; and, at Dodd's request, took away the job of one of the senator's ex-employes, Jim Boyd.

McCormack also euchered the reformer, Rep. Charles Bennet, D-Fla., out of the chairmanship of the House Ethics Committee.

His opposition to the reorganization bill, which contains more than 100 needed reforms, makes him the No. 1 obstructionist on Capitol Hill. This is an ironic twist for the kindly speaker, who won his spurs as a fighter for reforms during New Deal days.

The reorganization bill not only would speed up cumbersome legislative wheels but would free individual congressmen from the present system by which they are messenger boys for the citizens back home.

The reorganization bill at least would give congressmen more staff help, legislative research and computerized information.

East Germany has become the toughest communist nation in the bloc. When Henri Nannen sailed his yacht into Leningrad, he was able to tie up at the central dock and was treated with the utmost courtesy by the Russians. But when he tried to tie up at Rostock, East Germany, he was refused entry . . . Nannen is the Stern Magazine editor who won a law suit in the German courts giving him the right to print the uncut version of the Manchester book "The Death of a President." Last July Nannen spent a day at the LBJ ranch with the President . . . Rep. Jim Key of West Virginia was on an inspection trip to the Texas flood areas when he missed the key budget-cutting vote. Key, one of the hardest working members of Congress, says he never saw anything so depressingly awesome as the 40,000 miles of lower Texas under water . . .

Future Farmers, Hippies In Different Worlds

By DON REEDER

Kansas City, Mo. (AP) — The Future Farmers of America stand about as far from the flower children of hippieland as you can get and still share the same planet.

This state of affairs, a survey showed Wednesday, suits the apple-cheeked, crewcut, all-American rural types just fine.

"People would respect them more if they acted like human beings," an inquiring reporter at the 10,000-strong annual FFA convention was told by Dale Bidegain, 17, of Benson, Ariz.

'Bunch of Nuts'

"Instead they use dope and act like a bunch of nuts."

"I think the hippies would lead us away from the American way of initiative and aggressiveness toward a society of nonambitious people," said Eddie McMillan, 21, of Bushnell, Ill.

"Hippies don't look neat and some don't even look clean," complained spic - and - span Aaron Digman, 18, of Monroe, Wis.

"Maybe they're crazy, I don't know," said Eddie Childres, 17, of Clarksville, Tex. "They're just no good."

Love Unshown

"They're a bunch of kooks — they aren't gaining anything and they're not helping their country any," was the judgment of Ben Pettit, 16, of London, Ohio. "They talk about loving everybody, but I don't see any love in fighting cops and throwing rocks and bottles."

"They're just making fools of themselves," said Ken Billings, 18, of Eaton, Colo.

Some of the sunburned farm youths took a more tolerant view of the hippies while sharing the general distaste for their social outlook and habits.

Respect, Disagreement

"I respect them for having their own opinions," said David Dietze, 17, of Canby, Ore. "But I don't agree with them."

"Maybe they can help the situation a little," mused David Gilbert, 17, of Cortland, N.Y. "I mean by showing people shouldn't put everybody down so much. But I just can't understand why they dress like that."

"Drug users ought to be thrown in jail," he declared.

Asked whether he thought a typical hippie could survive a hard day's work on a farm, Brown laughed and shook his head. "They're just not our kind," he said.

LIFE BEGINS AT FORTY:

Sister's Children Unkind, Greedy

By ROBERT PETERSON

Q. — "Why do you paint such a rosy picture of family relations in old age? My sister has four children who treat her miserably. When they got married they came and took most of her furniture. They never remember her birthday and seldom write. And instead of chipping in and sending her a little money when she got down to her last $500, they told her to apply for old age assistance."

A. Well, it takes all kinds . . . Now and then you'll run into some lemons of the type you describe. But the great majority of children feel a natural affection and concern for their parents. Probably three-fourths of all elders will attest that their greatest delight stems from the love they derive from their children and grandchildren.

Q. "I'm in my 60s and vividly recall that when my parents were old they had a big Bible on the living room table, read it every evening, and went to church three times a week. But old people today seem to think mostly about playing bridge, going to parties, or taking trips. What's happened to their religious interests?"

A. I don't think elders today are any less religious —in the true sense of the word. Their counterparts in earlier generations may have read the Bible and gone to church more often, but this was probably because they had fewer opportunities to do other things. Travel was difficult and expensive. Personal health was often poor. And society hadn't yet discovered that old age could offer as many light, bright joys and diversions as earlier years.

Q. "We're planning to move across the country to a small retirement home near our daughter's home. But we've just learned it will cost nearly $1,000 to ship our furniture. The estimate has shocked us, for it never occurred to us it would cost this much. We simply can't afford it. Any suggestions?"

A. Why not sell your furniture and start with fresh things in your new location? Many elders have told me that disposing of old, tired possessions and starting all over with new or slightly used furniture gave them a new lease on life. With the $1,000 you save, plus whatever you can get by selling your present things, you can make a nice start toward furnishing your new home.

If you would like the booklet, "Retiring to Arizona," write to Robert Peterson, "Life Begins at Forty," c/o The Lincoln Star, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope and 10 cents to cover handling costs.

State Income Tax Rate Set At 10%

. . . 3% SALES TAX FORESEEN

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

The State Board of Equalization Wednesday set Nebraska's first individual income tax rate at 10%, but warned the sales tax will have to be boosted to 3% in 1969 to avoid a treasury deficit.

The 10% rate on individual incomes, accompanied by a 2% rate on corporations, was precisely as envisioned by Gov. Norbert T. Tiemann.

However, notice that the sales tax will have to be increased came as a surprise.

Under the sales tax portion of the 1967 Legislature's LB377 combination sales-income tax bill, the 2½% sales tax rate, which became effective in June, was scheduled to drop to 2% on Jan. 1, 1969.

Gov. Tiemann noted that LB377 was enacted before the Legislature undertook such new expenditures as state aid to education and repeal of such revenue-producing taxes as the head tax, intangible property tax and tax on household goods and personal effects.

Special Session

The Legislature will be meeting in regular session in 1969 and could adjust the sales tax rate then, but Tiemann said a special session in late 1968 "would avoid juggling" of the sales tax rate from 2½% down to 2% and back up to 3% within the space of a few months.

Tax Commissioner Murrell B. McNeil said the rate fluctuation, unless forestalled, could cause accounting problems for Nebraska retailers as well as his office.

The 10% state income tax rate, effective Jan. 1 for the 1968 calendar year, is applied to an individual's federal income tax liability.

For example, an individual who pays a $300 federal income tax would be assessed $30 state income taxes less $7 food tax credit for every individual covered by the return.

By law, the corporate income tax rate is one-fifth of the individual rate, but is applied to the taxable income rather than the tax liability.

Expected Collections

McNeil said the 10% individual rate on an estimated $65 million income tax base for 1968 is expected to produce a net of $26.5 million.

This is based on estimated $36.5 million individual income tax liability but less estimated food tax credits of $10 million.

McNeil said the corporate income tax base is estimated at $444 million, producing revenue of $8.8 million at the 2% rate.

Cash flow charts prepared by McNeil indicated that without a sales tax increase and the proposed 10% individual income tax rate, the treasury could record a deficit of about $5 million in April, 1969.

Timetable Urged

To avoid prior deficits, a timetable of certain allocations and expenditures were recommended.

McNeil said transfer of the $13.5 million in building funds could be stretched out with $5 million being transferred in October, 1968, and $8.5 million in December, 1968.

Earlier transfers are possible, he said, but state officials indicate this timetable is satisfactory for tentative building schedules.

However, major expenditures causing the need for the sales tax increase are $12.5 million in state education aid in the second year of the biennium and the $25 million projected for the next biennium plus $10 million that will go back to local government.

Deficit Trend

McNeil said a 3% sales tax on Jan. 1, 1969, would "completely reverse the deficit trend by April, 1969, and balances would start to build up."

Although the 10% income tax rate applied only to 1968, McNeil's cash flow studies projected this rate over the next four years.

Gov. Tiemann said the proposed merger of the University of Omaha with the University of Nebraska, if approved by the Omaha voters, could result in additional spending which could raise the tax rate.

The governor described the rate-setting session as "an historic moment in Nebraska's history."

Difficult Tax

"This is a difficult tax," he said, "but there is no reason to delay it" until the Nov. 15 deadline.

He said McNeil's office has "accumulated all the background figures that are humanly possible for setting an accurate rate."

He indicated McNeil's figures were on the conservative side, and said the estimated deficits that will be avoided by a sales tax increase "may be less than estimated."

McNeil said his office had visited informally with all board members prior to Wednesday's session. There was no discussion by the board prior to a formal vote.

Board members are Secretary of State Frank Marsh, Auditor Ray M. Johnson, Treasurer Wayne R. Swanson, McNeil and Tiemann.

General Motors Calls Back 17,799 Defective Trucks

Detroit (UPI)—General Motors Corp. issued a callback order for 17,799 Chevrolet and GMC trucks because of a brake deficiency.

Included in the callback were 16,599 medium-duty 1967 and 1968 GMC trucks and 1,200 Chevrolet 1968 model trucks.

The company said it would have to inspect and possibly replace the brake power boost assembly, provided by a supplier. Defects in the power boost assembly could reduce or eliminate the power assist.

However, the basic brake system would remain operative but would require abnormal brake pedal effort to stop the vehicle, GM said.

Bill Is Exonerated

London (UPI)—The sign at London's Kings Cross railway station read "Bill Posters Will Be Prosecuted" until somebody scratched out the last three words and wrote in "Is Innocent."

Funds Given In Memory Of Bischoff

Two endowed scholarship funds, valued at $10,000, have been established in the University of Nebraska Foundation in memory of Capt. John W. Bischoff of Tecumseh, who died in a mid-air collision Aug. 3, in Southeast Asia, enroute to North Vietnam on his 65th bombing mission.

The donors are his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Bischoff of Tecumseh.

Income from one of the funds, according to Harry R. Haynie, foundation president, will support scholarships for active members of the Theta Xi fraternity at the university.

The other fund will provide scholarships for freshmen who are graduates of Tecumseh High School and rank in the upper one-third of their graduating class. Financial need is a requirement for both funds, and the recipients will be selected by the university's general scholarship committee.

Captain Bischoff, who earned his bachelor of science in education in 1963, served as president of Theta Xi fraternity, treasurer of Corn Cobs, president of Arnold Air Society, section editor of the Cornhusker Yearbook, and a member of the Air Force Cadet Staff. He completed his Air ROTC training at the university "with distinction" and earned the Convair Award. He entered the university as a regents scholar.

After graduation, Captain Bischoff attended flight school at Reese Air Force Base, Texas. He was stationed at McGuire Air Base in New Jersey for approximately two years where he piloted a C135. He attended Fighter Pilot school at McConnell AFB in Kansas previous to his Southeast Asia assignment.

Later, he was flight leader of his squadron, stationed at Takli, Thailand, where he also served as base administrative officer. He was holder of the Air Medal, small arms expert marksmanship ribbon, National Defense Service Medal, Republic of Vietnam Campaign Medal, Vietnam Service Medal and the Air Force Longevity Service Award.

Recreation Meets Are Scheduled In Four Counties

Recreation interest meetings will be held in four southeastern counties Oct. 17-18 under auspices of the University of Nebraska Extension Division.

Purpose of the meetings will be to discuss recreational trends, view slides of special activities and determine the assistance which each city would like, according to Robert Dula, supervisor of community recreation at the university.

Cities in Johnson, Nemaha, Pawnee and Richardson counties will be involved in the program series. Meetings are scheduled as follows: Tecumseh Community Hall, Oct. 17, 9:30 a.m.; Pawnee City Chamber of Commerce Hall, Oct. 17, 2 p.m.; Auburn National Guard Armory, Oct. 17, 7:30 p.m.; Humboldt City Auditorium, Oct. 18, 2 p.m. and Falls City Lydia Brunn Woods Memorial Library, Oct. 18, 7:30 p.m.

Seminar Slated For Registrars

Registrars and admissions officers from Nebraska's colleges and universities will take part in a "Seminar for Registrars" to be held Oct. 19 and 20 at the University of Nebraska Center.

All colleges and universities in the state are represented in the Nebraska Chapter of the Association of College Registrars and Admissions Officers. Lloyd Olson of Doane College, Crete, is president.

The featured speaker will be Nelson M. Parkhurst of Purdue University, past national president. He will speak both Thursday and Friday.

Wallace Backers Need 750 Signers For Party

Supporters of former Alabama Gov. George Wallace must acquire the signatures of at least 750 Nebraskans in a state convention to form a new political party if they wish to enter Wallace's name on the presidential primary ballot as a third party candidate.

If Wallace seeks to enter the Nebraska primary election as a Democratic candidate, his name would most likely be entered on the ballot by Secretary of State Frank Marsh.

Marsh said Wednesday that he does not wish to fully commit himself on that course of action at this time, but he noted that he will "liberally interpret the law" under which he is required to enter the names of candidates on the ballot.

Under Nebraska's new presidential primary law, Marsh has the sole discretion to enter the names of presidential prospects who are "generally advocated or recognized as candidates in national news media throughout the U.S."

Marsh is keeping a file of national news clippings on which he will base his decision.

Wallace supporters may also choose to enter the Alabaman's name on the presidential ballot through petitions signed by at least 100 voters in each of the three congressional districts. But if Wallace is to run as a third party candidate, his supporters will be required first to form a new party in Nebraska before they can follow the petition route.

Wallace supporters formed a state committee in his behalf at a closed meeting in Lincoln Tuesday night.

Los Angeles advertising representative William Shearer said the committee will take "whatever steps are necessary" to place Wallace's name on the Nebraska ballot, probably via "a new party vehicle."

State law on formation of a new party requires that at least 750 persons sign an agreement to form such an organization during a convention held for that purpose.

The convention is required to adopt a party name, but it may not use any part of the name of other existing parties. Thus, the words Democratic or Republican could not be used in the title of a third party structure.

An estimated 35 to 40 people attended the Wallace committee meeting in Lincoln.

Tiemann Raps Threatened Cut In Federal Road Funds

By United Press International

Gov. Norbert T. Tiemann told federal Transportation Secretary Alan S. Boyd Wednesday the proposed highway aid cutback would wreck Nebraska's roadbuilding program.

Tiemann also said it would be damaging to highway safety efforts and the overall economy of the state.

"It is inconceivable that the federal government would propose a reduction in highway aid at a time when the nation is greatly alarmed about highway accident rates," the governor said in a telegram to Boyd.

'Condemn Citizens'

"The Department of Transportation has taken the lead in promoting the program of spot improvements, and the Congress has set safety standards to reduce hazards in highway design, and now, in your proposal, you condemn good citizens to violent deaths on the highways by curtailing the safety program."

Boyd had sent telegrams to all governors advising that cutbacks of as much as 50% are being considered in current and prospective allocations for the federal highway aid program to combat inflation.

Tiemann said the federal highway trust fund "must not be the innocent victim" of President Johnson's current struggle with Congress over domestic spending and a tax increase.

Revenues Continue

"Whether a proposed surtax is or is not imposed, the revenues accruing to the highway trust fund will continue," the governor said. "Federal allotments to the states must be determined by highway trust fund balances and not confused with general fund conditions."

Tiemann said Nebraska is counting on receiving $48.8 million in highway aid prior to Nov. 1, 1968. He said if this is cut in half, the state's construction program must be reduced by a like amount.

"Reductions of this nature would more than cripple the highway program, they would literally wreck it," the governor said.

Crosby Objects

Meanwhile, a former Nebraska governor and now president of the National Good Roads Association also sent a telegram to Boyd objecting to the cutback.

Robert B. Crosby, a Lincoln attorney, urged the federal government to cut back on domestic spending in other areas.

"Irresponsible use of highway-aid funds, whether as a weapon against inflation or as a weapon in a fight with Congress over taxes, does irreparable harm to the nation's highway program," Crosby said.

Group Includes Chiropractic Aid Under Medicare

Washington (AP) — The Senate Finance Committee decided tentatively Wednesday to include chiropractic care and services under Medicare.

The action came as the committee continued, for the fourth day, its closed-door consideration of the House-passed Social Security bill.

Gov. Tiemann Accused Of Making 'Race Issue'

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

Gov. Norbert Tiemann Wednesday was accused of attempting to turn a dispute over alleged political activities by Nebraska's anti-poverty director into "a racial issue."

Hess Dyas of Lincoln, administrative assistant of Nebraska's Democratic Party, said Tiemann's "attempt to make this a racial issue is unfortunate."

Dyas met privately with the governor Wednesday to "let him know how cheap I thought his strategy was," and said Tiemann appeared "to take delight in his ability to sidetrack my charges by the emotional racial issue of his making."

Hatch Act

At issued is Dyas' allegation that Sam Cornelius, state technical assistance director, should be dismissed for alleged violation of the federal Hatch Act which restricts political activities of federally-supported employes.

Dyas pointed to Cornelius' "flirtation" with membership on the Nixon-for-President Committee in Nebraska and said he continues to serve as a Republican ward chairman in Omaha.

Cornelius was listed among members of the Nixon campaign committee announced last week, but his wife's name was later substituted for his.

'No Violation'

Tiemann replied to the allegations Tuesday stating that Cornelius has "violated no law" and will not be asked to resign as director of the state agency which administers federal anti-poverty funds.

Furthermore, the governor charged that Dyas had engaged in "an unfair attack" on Cornelius, a Negro, at a time when Tiemann is attempting to attract members of minority groups into state government.

In a prepared statement, Dyas poked at the governor's "hysterical and patronizing reaction . . . the distinction he feels compelled to make between Republicans, black and white, is both patronizing and insulting."

Nothing To Say

Dyas said Tiemann had nothing to say about the issue of alleged violation of a federal act and that his reference to minority groups was "off the subject."

Asked Dyas: "Should I have said nothing because that official also is a Negro? Have we gotten to the place in this country where we must check on the race or religion of an individual before criticizing him for fear of being labelled a bigot?"

Dyas said he was disappointed with the governor's "complete political cynicism" on the subject when Dyas raised the issue at Wednesday's meeting in Tiemann's office.

Demo Record

The Democratic Party, Dyas said, has "written an indelible record in support of minority groups." An example of that record is the war on poverty program which, Dyas said, has undergone attacks from Republicans such as Nebraska Sen. Carl Curtis.

Cornelius said Dyas' charges were "totally inaccurate" and represented "political publicity."

Ommen New Chief Of SE County Unit

Melvin E. Ommen of Unadilla, Otoe County commissioner, was elected president of the Southeast Nebraska County Officials Association Wednesday succeeding Lancaster County Commissioner Kenneth Bourne.

Other officers elected are: Bruno Fangmeir, Thayer County commissioner from Hebron, vice president, and Lester F. Mannschreck, Nemaha county clerk from Auburn, secretary-treasurer.

Bourne was re-elected for a three-year-term to the board of directors of the state association.

Douglas County Commissioner Dan Lynch, secretary-treasurer of the state organization of county officials, told the representatives of the 20 counties represented at the Southeart Nebraska meeting that in order to take a stand on the proposed redistribution of funds under the highway study plan that counties must be backed with information and facts.

He pointed out that implementation of the plan would result in a loss of $4,256,000 to the 20 counties with $642,806 being lost in Lancaster County.

Lynch also said that the counties will be given about 10% more roads to maintain than they now have.

NWU Dormitory Officers Elected By Student Vote

Officers of three Nebraska Wesleyan University residence halls were elected recently by a popular vote of dormitory residents.

President of newly-opened Centennial Hall is Ben Roe Jr., a senior at NWU. His sister, Phyllis Roe, a junior, will act as secretary of the hall. Their parents are the Rev. and Mrs. Joseph Roe of Elmwood.

Karen Coffey, a junior from Story City, Iowa, is Centennial Hall vice president. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Coffey.

Susan Sexon and Linda Neuswanger will preside at Pioneer and Johnson Halls, freshman women's residences. Miss Sexon is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Sexon of Grant and Miss Neuswanger is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Neuswanger of Alliance.

Food Preservation By Irradiation Seen As Economic Boon For State

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

A University of Nebraska food scientist Wednesday held out food preservation by irradiation as a economic boon to Nebraska's meat industry.

Dr. Burt Maxcy said the shelf-life of prepackaged meat can be increased from three days to three weeks by irradiation and can make Nebraska a major processor and distributor of beef and other red meats.

His comments came during a briefing and demonstration for Gov. Norbert T. Tiemann, state officials, industrial leaders and educators in the governor's hearing room.

The group sampled bacon and shrimp, preserved by irradiation, and viewed a mobile Cesium irradiator now touring the nation under sponsorship of the Atomic Energy Commission.

Dr. Maxcy said Nebraska "hasn't fared too well as other states in adding to the value of its products."

But, he said, the irradiation process could enchance the state's economy as a processor and distributor of its agricultural products.

Radiation of food for its preservation "doesn't change its quality any more than heat, and generally much less," he said.

Carl Wooten, irradiation systems manager for Isotopes Inc., of Westwood, N.J., said the irradiation equipment is the result of 15 years development.

It can be used to both retard and stimulate growth as well as function as a preservative in extending the shelf-life of food products, he said.

Potatoes, wheat and bacon have already been cleared for irradiation by the Federal Food and Drug Administration, and other clearances are coming, he said.

Following the briefing, several food products including potatoes and grains underwent irradiation treatment in a demonstration at the north entrance of the Capitol, where the 18-ton machine was parked.

The mobile unit, which now heads for Washington, was brought to the state through the joint efforts of the governor's office, Sen. Carl Curtis' office, State Economic Development Department and University of Nebraska.

Model United Nations Program Slated At NU

Students of the University of Nebraska will present a Model United Nations, December 8-9 at the Nebraska Center, to extend student participation in the United Nations' adopted purpose "world peace through understanding."

The Model U.N. is being sponsored by the student government, Associated Students of the University of Nebraska (ASUN), in conjunction with the Nebraska Union Talks and Topics Committee.

A national program, the Model U.N. was founded to promote interest and understanding of the activities of the U.N. through student role-taking as representatives for delegations from the various countries.

Washington University of St. Louis, Mo., which has one of the most extensive student Model U.N. programs in the nation, also will participate in the university program. Additional college participation will include Nebraska Wesleyan University, Duchesne College of the Sacred Heart in Omaha and Doane College of Crete.

Included in discussion for the program's Model General Assembly are the areas of Chinese representation in the U.N., the Apartheid in Africa and the world population and birth control.

University of Oregon professor, Dr. Thomas Hovet, advisor to 15 nations in the U.N. and State Department advisor on Chinese affairs, will be the keynote speaker.

A banquet featuring international foods with speaker, Dr. Milton Rakove, professor at the University of Chicago and advisor to West German affairs, will close the Assembly sessions on Dec. 9.

Lecture Series For Community Leaders Announced

"Man Faces Change," a special lecture-discussion series for community leaders in Thayer, Saline, Fillmore and Jefferson counties, will begin at the Presbyterian Church in Alexandria on Oct. 23.

The five-session short course is sponsored by the University of Nebraska Extension Division and Blue Valley Community Action, Inc.

At the first session, Oct. 23, Dr. Francis Schmehl, director of research at the university, will view the emphasis placed on research and technology today and the impact this has on rural Nebraska.

Speakers and topics for other sessions include:

—Oct. 30—Dr. Erwin Goldenstein, chairman of history and philosophy of education at the university, will discuss some current notions of right and wrong, the "good life," and American values.

—Nov. 6—Dr. Bert Evans, university extension economist, will discuss recent trends and developments in politics and economics that influence life in Nebraska.

—Nov. 13—Dr. Wesley Meierhenry, assistant dean of Teachers' College, will discuss "What's Happening to Our Schools?" Dr. Meierhenry is also director of the Advanced Professional (graduate) Division of the college and coordinator for the Teachers Placement Division.

—Nov. 20—Dr. Otto Hoiberg, head of community development for the university Extension Division, will discuss ways communities can plan for the future.

Penalty Clause Hit By Trucking Chiefs

Pittsburgh (AP) — Trucking executives agreed in general Wednesday to a set of proposals drafted to end the violent eight-week steel haulers' strike but balked at a key proposal, coming up with an altered suggestion.

A committee of the truckers, representing 82 firms, said they could not accept a suggestion by governors' representatives from seven states that waiting time for loading and unloading by two hours and after that $10 per hour as penalty payment.

They suggested a four hour free waiting period and, after that, penalty payment of $10 an hour.

Commenting on the two hour wait-time proposal Robert Eazor, Pittsburgh trucking executive who is chairman of the group, said: "We feel that this would be detrimental for the truckers and could possibly hurt us competitively."

Comments Follow Talks

Eazor commented after meeting all day with his group and representatives of the steel industry.

The striking steel haulers, in walking out in eight states and virtually stopping all steel shipment by truck, said the wait-time provision and penalty payment was a key demand.

There was no immediate comment from the strikers at the trucking executives' alternate suggestion.

Eazor said the main problem in meeting the two-hour wait-time provision was that steel mills have outmoded facilities for unloading and loading trucks, and felt they could not meet the two hour requirement.

Suggestions To Union

"We feel this (the four hour wait-time provision) is something they can live with," he said.

Eazor said his group's suggestions would be submitted to the 82 trucking firms represented in his discussion soon and would be passed on to the Teamsters Union for action—possibly Thursday.

Eazor said the trucking firms had agreed to two other proposals; applying the wait-time rate and raising hauling fees 5 per cent, effective in November and December, with the owner-operators getting both increases.

Meanwhile, steel haulers served notice that the wildcat walkout wasn't over, peppering trucks with funfire from Pittsburgh to Chicago.

Air Mishap Investigated In Hearing

Asheville, N.C. (UPI) — The twin-engine plane which collided with a Piedmont Jetliner July 19, killing 82 persons, had its main navigational aid set on the wrong course, a federal investigator's report said Wednesday.

The instrument, called an Automatic Direction Finder (ADF) was located in the lower left-hand portion of the instrument panel where it would be most accessible to the person sitting in the left-hand seat.

In testimony given on the first day of the crash hearing here, Charlotte Airplane mechanic Furman Burt testified he believed a man who did not have a pilot's license was sitting in that seat of the Cessna 310.

The report on instrument systems of the two aircraft was made public at the end of a three-day hearing into the July 19th air disaster, the worst in the United States this year. As the hearing closed a spokesman for the firm which owned the Cessna charged the main purpose of the hearing was an "exoneration of government people."

Attorney Joe Greene of Springfield, Mo., said "as a general proposition, there was no fairness at the hearing."

Sun Bear Found

Gauhati, India (AP) — A sun bear, marked by a gold-color collar and long believed extinct in India, was found recently by peasants in the Mizo Hills district of Assam State. A state official on tour was presented a cub and turned it over to the Gauhati zoo.

Personalizing Care Urged By Catholic Hospital Group

Personalizing care for patients in extended care units of hospitals was emphasized Wednesday at the opening session of the Nebraska Conference of the Catholic Hospital Association meeting here.

Sister M. Laurice, administrator of St. Francis Nursing Home in Breckenridge, Minn., urged some 75 Catholic hospital officials to provide rehabilitation services as an essential part of long-term care facilities.

As the new extended care units are added to hospitals to accommodate increased numbers of elderly patients, administrators should be concerned with the socio-psychological as well as medical aspects of care, she said.

Sister Laurice indicated that every effort should be made to return patients to their homes as soon as possible. Or, if the ailment requires institutionalization efforts should be made to make the facility as home-like as possible.

Keynoting a panel on Chrisian witness in hospitals, was Sister M. Aurelia, director of Sister Renewal Studies in Bartlett, Ill.

Panel members included the association's new president, Sister M. Paschala, administrator of St. Catherine Hospital in McCook; the Rev. Virgil Welch of Lincoln, a Methodist visiting chaplain; Miss Gertrude Kramer, director of nursing service at St. Mary Hospital in North Platte; and the Rev. James J. Quinn of the Creighton University College of Medicine in Omaha.

The Catholic Hospital Association members are meeting with the Nebraska Hospital Association for sessions here Thursday and Friday.

Lincoln Electric System Operation 'Satisfactory'

Lincoln Electric System (LES) operations during its first full fiscal year show "very satisfactory results," according to special assistant Dale Renner.

Renner told the Power Advisory Board Wednesday that operations during the 12 months since Aug. 1, 1966, resulted in a net income of $1,425,873.

He noted that LES net income for August, 1967, totaled $301,557, up $19,977 over August, 1966.

"Results for this August and for the fiscal year are therefore considered very satisfactory," he said.

The Advisory Board expressed dissatisfaction with progress of a physical appraisal of LES and Norris Public Power District properties being undertaken by Brown Engineering Co.

The engineering study, already four months overdue, must be completed before LES and Norris can negotiate for the exchange of properties within the LES service area.

LES manager P. T. Baird told the board that two other studies might me completed by the November meeting.

One is an evaluation of the future power supply needs of the city, prepared by Gibbs, Hill, Dawson, and Richardson, an Omaha firm, the other a study of the downtown steam heat system to determine present and future needs by Stearns-Rogers Co. of Denver.

Bulldozer Bid By Nebraska Tractor 'Low'

Nebraska Tractor Co. was the apparent low bidder Wednesday on a bulldozer for use at the city sanitary land fill.

The low bid was $49,950, followed by Lincoln Equipment Co. at $60,348.

Other bids received by the city Wednesday:

—Paving district, Burnham St., 14th to 17th: Dobson Bros. Construction Co., $22,758 and Pioneer Paving, $23,065.

—Arterial resurfacing, A St., 21st to 27th: Pioneer Paving, $18,045 and Dobson Bros., $18,728.

—Water district, 70th, Monterey Drive to South St.: Dobson Bros., $9,595 and H.R. Bookstrom Construction Co., $9,965.

—Sewer district, 48th, for 800 feet north and south of Superior: H.R. Bookstrom, $7,025 and Dobson Bros., $7,372.

Art

BY HILTON KRAMER

Washington — The movement to create sculptures of immense size—one of the salient features of the current American art scene—may be said to have reached a climax in the exhibition called "Scale As Content," which opened last week at the Corcoran Gallery of Art.

Consisting of only three works commissioned by the Corcoran gallery. The exhibition is intended as a celebration of sheer size as an essential component of the new sculptural esthetics. At the same time, the show is a demonstration of the Corcoran's own willingness to collaborate with the artists in realizing works of extraordinary physical dimension. Two of the works on view—Tony Smith's "Smoke" and Ronald Bladen's "The X"—have actually been constructed, according to the artists' plans, inside the Corcoran building. The third — Barnett Newman's "Broken Obelisk" — has been executed in steel and placed outside the gallery at the corner of New York Avenue and 17th Street.

The largest of these works is Smith's "Smoke," an open-form structure of painted plywood that stands 22 feet high and reaches almost 50 feet in length, filling the two-story classical south atrium of the Corcoran. It is one of the most accomplished works in the new sculptural mode, known variously as "Primary Structures" or "Minimal Sculpture," and points to a possible new development in this style.

Smith has abandoned the massive monolithic profile that has characterized all of his work to date, and employs a series of triangular plywood piers to inflect and orchestrate the sculpture's interior space. Instead of the solid, highly simplified geometric form favored by the new minimalists, Smith has created an open, airy structure of almost baroque complexity. While still adhereing to a geometric module in the design of the individual units that make up the work, Smith uses this module in a freer, almost expressionist manner. In fact, if not in theory, "Smoke" is closer in visual feeling to the fantasy architecture of expressionism than to the conventions of geometric sculpture out of which it comes.

Bladen's "The X," a massive structure, also constructed of plywood painted black, is, as its name suggests, a work in the form of a giant X. It, too, reaches 22 feet in height, but is a mere 26 feet in width.

Compared to Smith's work, "The X" is a relatively simple, straight-forward sculptural image. It is momentarily stunning in scale, but it lacks the power to sustain this scale in expressive terms.

Newman's "Broken Obelisk," standing 26 feet high in the open air, is a rather modest, almost traditional conception, consisting of a large pyramid, 10 feet square at its base, topped by an inverted obelisk.

Two Schools Of Thought On Life And Works Of Johann S. Bach

By HAROLD C. SCHONBERG
(c) New York Times
News Service

New York — The Munich Bach Chorus gave us the B Minor Mass a week ago Friday, and like everybody else in the audience I surrendered to the sweep and majesty of the music.

The B Minor Mass, like all great peices of music, can be heard on many levels. Professionals can admire it for its magnificent technique: those fugal movements unrolling with logic and sheer intelligence, those perfectly centered solos, the smooth part-writing for the chorus. No composer in history, not even Mozart, has had Bach's surety. Then the B Minor Mass can be listened to as a piece of absolute music, as an over-all structure, as pure form in tone. Or it can be experienced as a religious piece, which is how most people take it. The B Minor Mass, after all, celebrates the most overpowering ceremony of the Catholic Church.

Up to now all listeners have taken it as an article of faith that the B Minor Mass, if nothing else, represents a religious — perhaps spiritual is the better word — experience. Bach himself appears to have been a religious man, preoccupied with thoughts of death. From Schweitzer on, scholars have been pointing out religious symbolism in Bach's music. We know that Bach left an extraordinarily large (for its day) collection of books on religion; and certainly the regrettably few personal letters of Bach that have come down to us testify to a man bound up in the spirit of the Lutheran Church.

But a few years ago the German scholar, Friedrich Blume, wrote an article questioning the verities. In his "outlines of a new picture of Bach" he wondered if the old picture were accurate.

Blume's argument runs something as follows: Bach did not grow up in the atmosphere of the church. His father was a municipal, not a church, musician. Young Bach learned to play the organ, and played it better than anybody alive; but, says Blume, he was not particularly attached to the organ, and after 1717 was never again a church organist, nor did he ever attempt to secure for himself one of the many available organ posts in Germany.

Nor did Bach have any special liking for church work. "Was it a spiritual necessity for him? Hardly. There is at any rate no evidence that it was," wrote Blume.

What's more, says Blume, a very large percentage of Bach's religious choral music is "parody," that is based upon earlier works he had composed. Bach took entire movements and only changed the words, or did not even do that. The B Minor Mass is one of those works. That does not make it greater or lesser music, but under these circumstances it certainly modifies the religious element.

It is true that a new picture of Bach is needed, though Blume has probably gone overboard in his article. At least, however, Blume's conclusions can serve as a corrective to the popular romantic picture of Bach, sitting at his organ in an angelic revery, searching for the lost chord. For if there was one thing we know about Bach, it is that he was no angel. He was something better — a man.

He was burly, stubborn, obstinate, bad-tempered, violent, insistent on getting his own way. There was another side to the man: the Bach who raised a large family; who had two devoted wives; who could relax enough to enjoy a good wine and a comforting pipe of tobacco, who was admired by every musician with whom he came in contact. Not enough attention has been paid to Bach the working musician —the Bach who was constantly trying to get a better job, the Bach who could fill any commission that came his way, the Bach who carefully counted his pennies, the Bach who apparently would have been just as content working for a Catholic as for a Lutheran prince: the Bach, in short, who was a hard-working member of society and who was constantly fretting at the limitations imposed on him.

He never had an orchestra or a chorus big enough to suit him. He never had musicians accomplished enough to play his scores as he wanted. All his life he was in battle with the authorities, and he never really gave in. In Arnstadt, as a young man, he was reproved for introducing strange harmonies into the service. He was also held to be a "loner," incapable of getting along with the other students.

Books

In 1948 on a ranch west of Missoula, Mont., Bennett H. Stein found a bundle of manuscripts stored in dynamite boxes. The packaging was appropriate. "Tough Trip Through Paradise 1878-1879" is a powerful personal history of the Old West written by an ex-trapper, Andrew Garcia. It has been edited by Mr. Stein who has put in order and punctuated the author's fractured English without destroying its wild flavor.

Garcia was one of the few white men who lived among the Indians of the Northern Plains during their last free years—three years after the Custer massacre, one year after the Nez Perce march. Called 'squaw man' (three of his four wives were Indian), Garcia writes with a gusto that is contagious, and although many of his anecdotes are utterly incredible, those were incredible days.

Rita's Mailbox

So many have requested the instructions for making the net Christmas tree that I have decided to use them today. Actually, there are many ways of making the net Christmas tree. One simple way is to make net poms in the desired color, fastening them with pipe cleaners. Twist the ends of the pipe cleaners and insert into a cone of styrofoam. Decorate with beads, glitter, bows or tiny pine cones.

This, I think, is the tree that most of you want. You will need two yards of two yard wide netting in the color of your choice; one 20" length of ⅜ inch doweling; one spool of covered wire (to match netting, if possible); one Christmas ball (about one or one and one half inches in diameter); decorations; and a base. The base may be styrofoam, wood or whatever you wish to use. It should be about six inches in diameter, and may be round or square.

White netting that has either silver or gold threads in it is particularly striking made up as a tree. Pink, blue and green are colors that are often used, also. If using wood, paint the base a color that goes well with the color of net that you have selected. Styrofoam bases may be covered with crepe paper, ribbon, or, in some cases, may be spray painted. Make a hole in the base in which you may insert the dowel stick.

Cover the dowel stick with crepe paper that has been cut into one inch wide strips. The paper should match your netting. Fasten the Christmas ball ot the top end of the dowel by securing it with the crepe paper. Insert other end into the base.

Now cut your net into twelve strips that are 2", 3", 4", 5", 6", 7", 8," 9", 10", 11", 12", and 13" wide. The first two widths are about 34" inches long. The next seven widths are 36" long. The last three (the three widest strips), are 72" long.

Start with the widest strip, which is the bottom strip of your tree. Fold your strip of netting in half the long way of the strip. You may iron a crease in if it will make the work easier for you.

For the next step you will need a knitting needle. If you do not have one use a long pencil or a small dowel that is about ¼" in diameter. Lay the strip of net over the needle. Hold the knitting needle with your right hand and the net with your left hand. Gently push the netting onto the needle, gather it as you go, until the entire strip is gathered on the needle.

Slip a six inch length of your covered wire under the net, next to the needle. Carefully lift net off the needle and wrap around the dowel, about four inches from the base. Twist ends of your wire, close to the dowel. Cut off unneeded length of the ends, but be careful not to cut too short. Repeat with all of the strips of netting until all twelve strips are on the dowel. The two inch wide strip will be just under the Christmas ball.

You may decorate your tree in any way you desire. Small silver balls on the blue trees are very pretty as are blue balls on the white trees. Bows, tiny pine cones, sequins and glitter are among the things which you could use to decorate your trees.

We Hear That

Mrs. Henry Blum has returned home from Chicago where she met her new granddaughter, Susan Kay Ediger, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Ardean Ediger. The young Miss Ediger, who was born Thursday, Sept. 21, has a two year-old sister, Ruth Marie, and her grandparents are Dr. and Mrs. Henry Blum of Lincoln, and Mr. and Mrs. P. E. Ediger of Hampton. A graduate of the University of Nebraska College of Medicine, Dr. Ediger is completing a residency at St. Luke's Hospital in Chicago. Mrs. Ediger, the former Gretchen Blum, also is a graduate of the University of Nebraska and a member of Alpha Xi Delta sorority.

Anyone Want To Argue With Liz Taylor? She Says She's 'Fat—And Middle-Aged'

By GLORIA EMERSON
(c) New York Times News Service

Paris — A few hours before Elizabeth Taylor wiggled into a long pink velvet evening dress and had a million-dollar diamond tiara anchored on top of her head, she began to brood about buttons: 14 little pearl buttons on the cape that matched the dress.

Miss Taylor decided she hated the buttons.

The outfit had come, as most of her clothes do these days, from the couture house of Tiziani in Rome.

When she and her husband, Richard Burton, appeared that night at the opera for the Paris premiere of the film "The Taming of the Shrew," in which the Burtons co-star, the buttons were different.

Her face, the diamond tiara and earrings, and the ripe, Renoir figure made people stare — as they do all the time, everywhere.

Only one man really cared about her buttons. He had to supply different ones at the last minute and even, in an elegant suite at the Plaza-Athenee, sew them on all by himself. It took two and a half hours.

"I didn't even have a thimble," said Evan Richards, the owner of Tiziani.

An affable Texan who wanted to become an opera singer and did not, Richards has learned that he must always carry swatches of the material of Miss Taylor's dresses. That is how the pearl buttons were covered.

Where the actress goes, he goes — to balls in Venice, to openings in Paris, to the Villa in Gstaad, and to Sardinia where the Burtons are finishing "Goforth," an adaptation of Tennessee Williams' play "The Milk Train Doesn't Stop Here Anymore." Richards is doing the clothes for Miss Taylor.

"Elizabeth wears a dress only once — just once," he said. "This pink dress is to be thrown away — five or six hundred dollars worth of ermine are on this cape.

"Sometimes, I might feel that all the hand sewing, the little refinements, aren't worth it, but Elizabeth would be the first to notice if they were missing. She once asked me if the lining of a dress was real silk."

When people say Miss Taylor isn't as perfect now as she was when she made "National Velvet," Richards bristles.

"She knows she has limits," he said. "She kids about it and sometimes says, 'I am just a nice, fat, middle-aged woman.'"

Miss Mary Elaine Gill

Of particular interest this morning is the announcement made by Mr. and Mrs. James Gill, Jr., of Tekamah, of the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Mary Elaine, to Gene L. Swinton, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Swinton of Hunter, Kan.

The wedding is planned for Sunday, Dec. 17.

Miss Gill was graduated last year from Nebraska Wesleyan University, and currently is working toward her certification in business teacher education, at the University of Nebraska.

Mr. Swinton, an assistant professor at Nebraska Wesleyan University received his Bachelor's degree in mathematics from Fort Hays Kansas State College, at Hays, Kan., from where he also received his Master's degree in psychology.

Hollingsworth Heights
Fiene Heights
Bethany Park Heights
Trendwood

suburbia

A good definition of the word "autumn," in addition to describing it as "the season which follows summer," should include mention of the fact that it is probably the sportsman's favorite time of year. Perhaps this statement is especially true of Nebraska, where the brisk invigorating climate is conducive to everything from golf to football to hunting!

One suburban resident who is taking advantage of the "seasonal situation" is E. L. Felton of Hollingsworth Heights. Saratoga, Wyo., was Mr. Felton's destination when he left Lincoln last Friday for a week of deer hunting. Meeting him in Cheyenne was his brother-in-law, Vern Baumberger of Ft. Morgan, Colo., and the two hunters continued on from there in search of game and adventure. Perhaps Mrs. Felton will soon have a new deer's head trophy to grace one of the walls in her home!

Fiene Heights has two out-of-town visitors this week. Mrs. Irene Johnson of Fresno, Calif., is the guest of her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Oakes. Mrs. Johnson has had a great opportunity to visit with her family, because she has been in Lincoln since September 9, and we understand that she plans to stay for another week and a half.

Arrving this past weekend was Mrs. Clara Nicholas of Lawton, Iowa. Mrs. Nicholas, who is the mother of Mrs. Fred Moss, returned to Lincoln with Mr. and Mrs. Moss after they spent the weekend as her guests in Iowa. We're sure that there will be a great deal to do between now and October 20 — when Mrs. Nicholas is scheduled to return home.

Tuesday, October 3 was a special day for young Tommy Zimmer, son of Bethany Park Heights residents Mr. and Mrs. Neil Zimmer. It seems that that was the day Tommy said good-bye to his "seven-year-old self," and entered into the exciting world of an eight-year-old! To celebrate, he invited several of his neighborhood pals for a wiener roast in the park, and later on, his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Haas, dropped in for the traditional birthday fare—ice cream and cake.

If the slogan that "everybody loves a winner" is true, Mrs. Clarence Dennis of Park Manor can consider hserself very popular. Mrs. Dennis and another Park Manor resident, Mrs. Wayne Wickencamp, left Tuesday by plane for a week in San Francisco. The trip is "on" Mrs. Dennis, since we understand, that was her prize for being a wnner in a contest!

Natives of Michigan who, as of September 1, joined the ranks of those who call themselves "Nebraskans," are Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Morse of 8007 Talbot Trail (which also makes them Trendwoodites"). Although, as we said Mr. and Mrs. Morse are originaly from Michigan (and are graduates of the University of Michigan), they have spent nine years in Brigham City, Utah.

Mr. and Mrs. Morse have four children, Gini Lee, almost 10; Teri Ann, almost 7; Billy, 5; and Debbie, almost 3, and we understand that when the whole family gets together, they like to go camping. Gini Lee and Teri Ann, as many girls their age, are also interested in Campfire Girls,

Bridal Courtesy

An honored guest on Sunday afternoon will be Miss Connie Justice, whose marriage to Rennie Walt will be an event of Thursday evening, Oct. 19.

Entertaining feminine members of the family and family friends in courtesy to their niece will be Mrs. Dale R. Treu and Mrs. Maurice Curren who will be hostesses at the home of Mrs. Curran. During the informal party, a kitchen shower will be presented to Miss Justice.

For her evening wedding, Miss Justice has chosen her sister, Mrs. John P. Curran of Oak Harbor, Wash., as her matron of honor. The bridesmaids will be Miss Janet Justice of Denver, also a sister of the bride-to-be, and Miss Jean McLaughlin.

Thomas Yaussi will serve Mr. Walt as best man, and the corps of ushers will include Robert Schmer, Wahoo; William Minier, William Kenagy, Tim Ash, Louis Gogela and Robert Beckman.

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
Pass	Pass	1 ♣	Pass
1 ♦	2 ♣	5 ♣	Pass
6 ♣

Opening lead — four of hearts.

Let's say you're in six clubs reached on the bidding shown. East's two club bid marks him with great length in the major suits, including probably the king of spades, and also suggests a void in clubs. Assuming these facts, how should you play the hand?

If you win the heart lead with the ace, discarding a diamond, and then play the ace and another diamond, hoping to establish the diamonds and thus avoid a spade finesse, you run into trouble when West wins the diamond and returns a spade.

In the actual hand, you go down whether you finesse or not. If you take the ace and ruff a diamond, you establish the suit all right, but you are then unable to take advantage of it because West has all the missing trumps.

It should not surprise you to run into this dead end since the bidding indicated that it might happen. The problem is to make the slam despite a 3-0 trump break and the unfavorable location of the king of spades, and this is a challenging problem even if you look at all four hands.

The critical play comes at trick one when you must cover the four of hearts with the five and discard a diamond on East's king! The effect of this play is that West can never take the lead for the embarrassing spade shift.

Let's say East returns a heart to the ace (his return doesn't really matter) on which you discard the nine of diamonds. You cash the diamond ace, play a club to the ten, ruff a diamond, play a club to the jack, and ruff another diamond.

That establishes the suit and, after drawing West's last trump, you cross to the ace of spades and discard a spade to bring home the slam. That's all there is to it.

ABBY: try hard to be patient

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am a 17-year-old girl with a big problem. My father! My mother has been dead for six years, and my father has some very old fashioned ideas about how to raise a daughter. For instance, I wasn't allowed to date until I was 16. I went to the Jr-Sr. prom with a really great guy. My father and I picked up my date. My father not only drove us both ways, he took us to dinner and chaperoned us the entire evening. I had a perfectly miserable time.

On another date, my father accompanied us to a Fourth of July picnic, and he had to leave early because he had a headache, so he instructed the boy to have me home by 9. He did, but the boy gave me a simple little goodnight kiss on the porch, which my father must have seen, because he called us both in, sat us down and gave us a long talk on "the facts of life.' What am I going to do? If the word gets around, no boy will want to come near me with a father like mine.

BIG PROBLEM

Dear B. P.: I think your father is holding the reins a little tight. But he has a "big problem," too—that of raising a teen-age daughter without a mother. Time and circumstances will add to your freedom before too long. Be patient and help your father with his problem, and "Father Time" will soon solve yours.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "FREE AGAIN:" It wasn't much of a marriage when a man will gladly pay a lawyer $300 for untying the knot he grudgingly paid a minister $25 for tying.

FOOD
a party spread

A party-pretty appetizer is as easy to make as a gelatin salad. Spread a mixture of cream and Parmesan cheeses plus lots of minced parsley and a hint of lemon evenly over the bottom of a small mold. Now spoon on a mixture of canned tomato sauce, more cream and Parmesan cheeses and some basil for zap. Chill until serving time—over-night is best for nicely mellowed flavors and easy unmolding.

NEAPOLITAN SPREAD

BOTTOM LAYER

- 2 (3-oz.) pkgs. cream cheese, softened
- ½ cup grated Parmesan cheese
- ½ cup finely chopped parsley.
- 2 teasp. lemon juice

TOP LAYER

- 1 envelope unflavored gelatine
- ¼ cup water
- 1 (8-oz.) can tomato sauce
- 2 (3-oz.) pkgs. cream cheese, softened
- 2 Tablesp. grated Parmesan cheese
- ½ teasp. sugar
- ¼ teasp. basil

Combine ingredients for bottom layer. Spread in bottom of lightly oiled 3-cup mold; chill. Soften gelatine in water. Heat tomato sauce, remove from heat and add softened gelatine; stir until dissolved. Combine with remaining ingredients for top layer; blend very well. Chill until mixture starts to set; spread over layer in mold. Chill overnight. Carefully run blade of knife around edge of mold to loosen; then dip mold in warm water and invert on plate or tray. Garnish with pimiento strips in sunburst pattern if desired. Serve with assorted crackers.

It's Delicious

There is nothing like a poppy seed coffee roll to bring out the best — in appetites, that is. Piping hot out of the oven it is delectable, delightful and delicious —Try this recipe:

POPPY SEED COFFEE ROLL

- ¼ cup milk
- 1 package active dry yeast
- 1 teaspoon sugar
- 2½ cups sifted all-purpose flour
- 3 tablespoons sugar
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- ⅓ cup butter or margarine
- 1 egg, slightly beaten
- Poppy Seed Filling

Scald milk; cool to lukewarm. Sprinkle yeast over ¼ cup warm water. Add 1 teaspoon sugar and stir until dissolved. Let stand 5 minutes. Sift flour with the 3 tablespoons sugar and salt. Cut in butter with pastry blender or two knives until mixture resembles coarse meal. Add milk and egg to yeast mixture; gradually add to flour mixture and blend well. Knead until dough is smooth on lightly floured board. Place in greased bowl. Cover, let rise in warm place until doubled in bulk. Punch dough down and roll out on lightly floured board to a rectangle 10x16 inches. Spread with Poppy Seed Filling. Roll in jelly roll fashion. Seal ends. Bake in preheated moderate oven (350°F.) 30 to 40 minutes or until done.

POPPY SEED FILLING

- 1 cup poppy seed
- ½ cup milk
- 2 tablespoons butter or margarine
- 2 tablespoons honey
- 1 tablespoon sugar
- 1 teaspoon ground cinnamon
- ½ cup raisins

Grind poppy seed in blender, if available, or use whole. Combine with remaining ingredients in small saucepan. Bring to boil, then simmer for 10 to 12 minutes. Cool mixture thoroughly before spreading on dough. YIELD: One 16-inch roll.

An Extra-Special Pie

The easiest, most nutritious and one of the most delicious ways of preparing yams is just to bake them in their scrubbed skins. (This way the peeling-eaters at the table can save the chewy skins for best!) Yams are so filled with sweet sap that they should be baked in a moderate oven — they may leak or burst in a too-hot oven.

Yams are especially good flavored with tart apples, orange or lemon juice or rind, maple syrup, currant jelly or spices such as cinnamon, cloves and ginger.

Just to prove that yams can be used in many different dishes, here is a recipe for a luscious pie.

YAM-CRANBERRY PECAN PIE

- 9-inch baked pie shell
- 1½ cups fresh cranberries
- ½ small orange, unpeeled, diced
- ½ cup pecans
- ¼ cup sugar
- 2 tablespoons cornstarch
- ⅓ cup granulated sugar
- ⅓ cup light brown sugar
- ¾ teaspoon ground ginger
- ¾ teaspoon ground cinnamon
- ½ teaspoon ground nutmeg
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- 1/16 teaspoons ground cloves
- 1 cup mashed yams
- 2 eggs
- ¾ cup hot milk
- ½ cup shelled pecan halves

Line a 9-inch pie plate with unbaked pastry. Set aside. Place cranberries, orange and pecans in blender and coarsely chop. Add sugar and cornstarch. Spread over unbaked pastry. Combine granulated and brown sugars, spices and salt in a small mixing bowl. Blend in mashed yams. Add eggs, one at a time beating well after each addition. Stir in hot milk. Pour over cranberry mixture in pie shell. Bake 30 minutes in preheated moderate oven (375 F.). Remove partially baked pie from oven. Garnish top with pecan halves. Continue baking for 30 minutes or until filling is firm in center. Serve cold with whipped cream, if desired.

YIELD: One 9-inch pie.

Either 16% Income Or 3% Sales Tax Said Needed In 1969

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

State Tax Commissioner Murrell B. McNeil said Wednesday a 16% individual income tax rate would be required for 1969 unless the sales tax is increased by then to 3%.

McNeil was asked by The Star to comment on possible alternatives to the 10% income tax rate set by the State Board of Equalization coupled with Gov. Norbert Tiemann's proposed 3% sales tax rate by Jan. 1, 1969.

The tax commissioner said the state "could possibly squeak through this (1967-69) biennium" on a 10% income tax rate with no change in sales tax rate, presently 2½% with a drop to 2% by 1969.

'Ceiling Would Fall'

"But," he continued, "the ceiling would fall in the next (1969-71) biennium. The descent of state balances from that point would be disastrous."

"The revenue input needs would be far greater to smooth out the projected deficits otherwise anticipated in the cash flow pattern for the next biennium," he said.

McNeil indicated that a 10% income tax rate along with the proposed 3% sales tax by 1969 could maintain the state's current spending level for the next four years in addition to state aid commitments made by the 1967 Legislature to education and local government during this and the next biennium.

If the 1969 Legislature increases the level of expenditures next biennium, McNeil said additional revenue would be required.

Other Sources

If the income and sales tax rate is maintained, the additional revenue would have to come from other tax sources or new ones. Alternatively, more income or sales tax revenue would be required.

McNeil said his office has not calculated an income tax rate for the next two years predicted upon no change in the sales tax.

However, he indicated that a two-year rate would fall between 10% and 16%.

The Nebraska Tax Research Council, an independent tax research group, had estimated a 12% income tax rate would be needed to maintain cash flows with a 2½% sales tax and a later 2% rate.

Commitments Decide

McNeil said the state's operating budget for its 66 departments and agencies does not cause the large flucuations in the state treasury balances, but rather the commitments of state aid to education and local government.

He noted $12.5 million will be given school districts during the 1968-69 fiscal year plus $10 million to local governments.

During the next biennium, under present commitments, this will increase to $25 million and $20 million, respectively.

One-Fifth Rate

The corporate income tax rate is one-fifth of the individual rate. A 10% individual rate means a 2% rate for corporations, and similarly a 16% individual rate would require a 3.2% rate on corporations.

Gov. Tiemann has said the income tax rate should be established for each biennium, rather than adjusted annually, for the industrial community.

The tax commissioner said the last chunk of state property tax revenue, an estimated $3 million, will come in October and the state will then have to rely solely on the broadened tax base.

Spanish Balloting Produces Some Unexpected Results

New York Times Service

By TAD SZULC

Madrid—The election for 108 seats in Spain's 564-seat Cortes (parliament) produced some unexpected results.

Independent candidates scored several important victories.

Several high-ranking government officials from Madrid were defeated in the provinces.

'Technocrats' Liked

The voters appeared to favor young "technocracts" — government and private economists and technical experts —and even businessmen and farmers over persons closely identified with the regime of Generalissimo Francisco Franco.

The direct vote Tuesday for the 108 deputies was an innovation under the 1966 constitutional law. The balance of the Cortes' membership is still appointed by the regime or chosen from official, political, labor, professional and cultural organizations in line with the Spanish corporative system.

Although all the candidates were ostensibly committed to Franco's National Movement, a series of patterns emerged that may serve as a sampling of the national political mood.

Boycott

At least two men who are regarded as quasi-oppositionists were elected by large pluralities, even though the formal anti-Franco opposition groups—such as the Socialists and Christian Democrats — boycotted the elections.

In Madrid, Juan Manuel Fanjul Sedeno, a 53-year-old Liberal Monarchist, scored the highest vote in a field of 12 candidates. A lawyer, Fanjul ran ahead of candidates known to be actively supported by the Falange.

Fanjul is known to favor the rule as king by Don Juan de Borbon y Battenberg, the exiled pretender, after Franco's death. The regime, however, regards Don Juan as too liberal.

Woman Wins

Mrs. Josefina Veglison, a social worker backed by the National Movement, won the second seat from Madrid province and became one of the three women elected in Spain's "family representation" elections. Each province sent two deputies to the Cortes in the direct elections.

In Barcelona, Eduardo Tarragona Corbella, 50, a wealthy industrialist, who ran as an independent, defeated Claudio Colomer Marques, a director-general in the commerce ministry.

Tarragona had announced publicly that he supported the process of democratization of the country.

Marquis Defeated

Among other setbacks for "official" candidates, Jose Sierra Moreno, a 49-year-old farmer, defeated the Marquis of Valdavia, one of the two vice presidents of the Cortes, in Toledo province.

Jose Maria Abad Martin, a 44-year-old electrical worker and a Catholic labor leader, was elected from Valencia province. He is a national director of the Workers' Brotherhood of Catholic Action, which has been in the forefront of the battle for trade union freedom in Spain.

Spanish observers suggested Wednesday that in the limited way in which it was permitted to express itself, the Spanish electorate did speak out in favor of a political renovation — if not of change—and of new men to run the nation.

Pilot Escapes Unhurt From Freak Crash

Lewellen (UPI) — A Colorado pilot escaped unharmed Wednesday from a hair-raising crash that saw his light plane strike a power line and then skid for about one-half mile over the parched rangeland near here.

Garden County Atty. Marvin Romig said Delmer Swegardt of Burlington, Colo., was taking off this afternoon from the Alva Orr ranch, 16 miles northeast of here.

The four-place Piper Cherokee Aircraft somehow hooked a power line and then started the marathon skid, demolishing the undercarriage in the process.

The skid also ignited a fire that eventually burned some 100 acres of the dry range.

Supreme Court Refuses Review In Sorensen Case

The U.S. Supreme Court has refused to review a petition by former Democratic State Treasurer Fred Sorensen contesting the election of his successor.

The State Justice Department was informed of the action Wednesday in a telegram from Court Clerk John Davis. A writ of certiorari had been sought by Sorensen's attorneys.

The decision upheld a Jan. 1, 1967, ruling of the State Supreme Court, which declared Republican Wayne R. Swanson the duly elected treasurer.

Swanson defeated Sorensen by 82,000 votes in last year's election but the latter claimed Swanson was ineligible to run because he still had two years left on a railway commission term.

The State Supreme Court ruled Swanson was at all times eligible to be a candidate for treasurer.

Alliance To Honor Newest Industry

Alliance (UPI) — Oct. 23 will be "True Temper Day" here as the Chamber of Commerce plans to honor its newest industry by honoring officials of the Alliance True-Temper Plant.

The plant has 40 employes and is confined to the manufacturing of skis and features a new fiber-glass process.

Most Government Offices To Close

All governmental offices except city offices and the Supreme Court and district courts will be closed Thursday in observance of Columbus Day.

A new law requiring the courts to close on legal holidays will not become effective until Oct. 23, so courts will remain in session Thursday.

Strong Foreign Language Program Supported

By LUCILLE HOWARD
Star Staff Writer

Members of the Citizens Advisory Committee on Schools agreed here Wednesday night to go on record in support of the Lincoln Public Schools attempt to gradually develop its foreign language courses by offering a strong four-year program in grades 9-12.

Hearing a recommendation from Mrs. Diane Brewer, foreign language coordinator for Westside Community Schools in Omaha, the committee decided the Lincoln Board of Education should be urged to provide "good programs" in grades 9-12 at all schools before expanding to other grades.

Mrs. Brewer told the group that a "strong foreign language program can only be started at the top. Then expand it into the lower grades gradually."

Lincoln In Need

"Lincoln is definitely in need of a good foreign language program at the junior high level," she declared, noting that she had helped review the program here as a member of the North Central accrediting team last year.

Mrs. Brewer did indicate approval of the initial attempt to adequately develop a four-year program starting at the ninth grade.

Pointing out that Westside requires elementary children to start a language in the second semester of the third grade, Mrs. Brewer said it is possible for students to take 9½ years of one language.

There is no class size requirement to maintain a class, she declared, noting that one senior course was taught for only two students.

However, she admitted, beginning classes on the secondary level have not been provided for students who transfer into the district without a foreign language background on the elementary level.

"Either the teacher holds back the rest of the class for the transfer students or he is left behind," she said.

Spanish is taught in eight of the elementary schools, and French is taught in the other four. French, Spanish, German and Latin are offered in the grades 7-12.

Only specialists teach foreign language in Westside. Teachers travel among the elementary schools.

Students who continue the nine-year program go into advanced college classes. But "the University of Nebraska is just not ready for our kids," she reported, indicating that the students are more advanced than courses offered.

Democrats Chided

Washington (UPI) — House Republicans chided Democratic leaders for their failure to bring up for a vote a senate-passed Congressional reform bill.

10-Year-Old Girl Falls From Tree; Injuries 'Serious'

A ten-year-old Lincoln girl was seriously injured when she fell out of a tree at 26th and Garfield Wednesday afternoon, police said.

Mary West, 2632 Sumner, told police officials that her daughter, Kathy, had been racing a boy down the tree when she slipped and fell about 15 feet.

Kathy was taken to St. Elizabeth's Hospital where she was kept by the hospital authorities for a concussion and listed as being in serious condition, police said.

Monthly N.Y. Lottery Sales Near 6 Million

New York — Nearly complete returns for September show that sales of $1 state lottery tickets totaled 5.8 million and perhaps a little more in the month.

This means that sales in the fourth month of the sweepstakes fell a bit short of the 5,987,201 tickets sold in August and more than 24 million short of the state's original prediction of 30 million tickets a month.

But the results in August and September, with vacations ending and business life returning to normal, seem to indicate that the lagging lottery sales have settled into a pattern of about 6 million tickets a month.

However, Congress is expected to approve legislation that would bar the sale of lottery tickets by federally insured banks. Since banks are the principal lottery outlets in New York, this would cripple the already limping lottery.

POSTCARD by

This is one of the great fishing ports of the gulf they called the Sea of Cortez. (The Spanish sailed up here for pearls. They thought the Lower California peninsula was an island.)

Eggs rancheros this warm, tropic morning beside the blue, blue sea.

Eggs rancheros are fried. Put on top of a hot tortilla. And splashed with any flavoring the cook has in the kitchen. Tomatoes, onions, hot sauce.

It's a waker-upper all right. "Ay, Chihuahua! What is in it, waiter? Dynamite?"

Mexican waiters are pleased when tourists bite into the piquant food of Mexico.

Not all Mexican food is blazing with hot sauce. But much of it is — particularly in the north.

The farther north ,the spicier. If you want Mexican enchiladas that would blow a safe, go to one of those wonderful places on the river in San Antonio, Texas.

If they'd had those at the Alamo, the battle might have gone the other way.

It is my birthday. "Congratulations, Senor." Happy birthday to me. In this warm land (on birthdays and with fiery eggs rancheros) I take a bottle of Mexico's Bohemia beer.

"It preserves one's youth," said the waiter. "Have another."

"Have one with me," I said.

"Thank you, caballero," he said. (That's me. All caballero.. When I shaved this morning, I thought, "Birthdays aren't what they used to be.")

A beer in the a.m. is a festive affair. The warm Mexican breeze pours through the patio. Happy birthday. I feel better now.

The Jesuit missionaries were first in the long Sonora desert. You find their stone and adobe churches — thick-walled like fortresses — in the little towns off the highway.

The rocky, dirt-tracked road from Mexico City to California followed the trickles of water. The Yaqui and Sonora rivers. They called it El Camino Real. The Royal Highway.

It wound up to southern Arizona. Across the Mojave desert to the Franciscan mission at Our Lady of the Angels of the Earthquakes. (Now we just call it Los Angeles — or L.A. Shame to lose such a fine name.)

From there, El Camino went north as far as Sonoma. South to San Diego — where the first padre died under Indian clubs crying, "Love God, my children!"

☆ ☆ ☆

The inland towns are quiet, lost places now. You reach them from the paved West Coast highway on bumpy dirt roads that run pleasantly between mesquite and cactus.

Ures — where the Jesuit order had headquarters for Northern Mexico.

Arizpe — once the frontier capital for all lands from here to Canada. (De Anza, who founded San Francisco, is buried in the church.)

Alamos — once so rich in silver that a local mine owner paved the path from his home to church with silver bricks.

The country is full of legends. Lost mines. Revolutionary loot. Indian ghosts.

"Congratulations on your birthday," said the waiter pouring himself another beer.

He was polite. Birthdays are not celebration days in Mexico.

You celebrate your saint's day. You are named for a saint. And that is the day of the year you celebrate.

I was not named for a saint. I was named for my grandfather who was named for Lincoln's Secretary of War. (Too hard to explain to the waiter in Spanish.)

He was a polite cat. As long as I wanted to celebrate, any day would do for him. As long as the beer held out.

"Already you are looking younger," he said. "Le's have another beer," I said. "Up with the revolution!" "Land and Liberty!" said the waiter.

Here is a practical little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add three. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures gives you.

SERIES TO BE DECIDED TODAY

...Homer Spree Draws Red Sox, Cardinals Even At Three Games Each

Boston (UPI)—The Boston Red Sox fired a record three-homer salute in the fourth inning and squat Joe Foy's ringing double touched off a four-run seventh inning bombardment to crush the St. Louis Cardinals, 8-4, and squared the World Series at three games apiece.

The stunning six-game victory by the "miracle" Red Sox set the stage for a dramatic seventh game finale today—and at last a battle between ace pitchers Bob Gibson of St. Louis and Jim Lonborg of Boston, each of whom has won two games.

So devastating was Boston's 12-hit, four-homer attack that St. Louis manager Red Schoendienst paraded a record-tying eight pitchers to the mound. The Red Sox used three and the two-team total of 11 set a new mark for a single Series game.

Trailing 2-1 in the fourth, the Red Sox shelled Cards' starter Dick Hughes for three solo homers, breaking the former record of two in one inning shared by four different New York Yankee teams.

Carl Yastrzemski drilled the first shot into the left centerfield screen above the foreboding green monster at friendly Fenway Park which Yaz laughingly calls "our lion's den." Two outs later, Reggie Smith drilled a low liner into the third row in right field and Rico Petrocelli, who had homered for Boston's first run in the second, rocketed another Hughes delivery into the screen in left center.

For all that display of power, however, it was still 4-4 in the seven because St. Louis super-hero Lou Brock slammed a two-run homer deep into the centerfield bleachers off winning reliever John Wyatt.

By that time, Jack Lamabe, the fourth Cards' hurler, was on the mound—but not for long. After Elston Howard bounced out, pinch hitter Dalton Jones delivered a line single to right and Foy, who had been benched for the second half of the season because of poor fielding, lashed a hooking line drive toward the left field corner.

Brock, running at full speed, sailed into the air at the last second in a desperate attempt to catch the ball but couldn't reach it as it caromed off the wall. Jones scored and Foy took third on the throw-in.

Out went Lamabe and in came Joe Hoerner, the second of a record-tying four pitchers who were to work before the inning ended. Hoerner pitched to two batters and allowed two singles—by Mike Andrews and Yastrzemski — before departing with the Cards down, 6-4.

BROCK SCORES . . . Cardinals' Lou Brock dives for home plate for St. Louis' second score as Red Sox catcher Elston Howard attempts to make the tag.

Larry Jaster had a bit more success, retiring pinch hitter Jerry Adair on a sacrifice fly to center which scored the third run of the stanza, before singles by George Scott and Smith drove across a fourth and chased him from the mound.

Ray Washburn finally terminated the wild inning by intentionally walking Petrocelli, loading the bases, and getting Howard to end it the way he began it—bouncing to third.

It wasn't over yet, however. Gary Bell, the third Sox pitcher, allowed a leadoff infield single by Orlando Cepeda in the eighth and, after Yastrzemski made a sparkling one-handed catch of Tim McCarver's liner to left center, Mike Shannon doubled off the left centerfield wall. One out later, Bell walked weak-hitting Dal Maxvill but retired pinch hitter Dave Ricketts on a deep fly to Yastrzemski on the left field warning track.

Brock, who was immense in driving in three runs and scoring the other St. Louis tally, made the last Cardinal gesture in the ninth when he flied to right fielder George Thomas smack up against the right field bullpen wall.

The victory made the Red Sox' impossible dream only one step from reality. The battling ball club, a 110-1 shot to win the American League pennant, has the opportunity to go from ninth place the previous season to the world championship.

The Red Sox, who trailed three games to one before rallying for a 3-1 triumph behind Lonborg on Monday, can become the third team in modern major league history to win the World Series after trailing 3-1 in games. Only the 1925 Pittsburgh Pirates and 1958 New York Yankees have accomplished the feat.

Boston starter Gary Waslewski, a 26-year-old rookie with only four major league decisions, pitched well for 5 1-3 innings before giving way to Wyatt.

After Petrocelli's first homer into the net above the left field wall in the second sent the Red Sox into a 1-0 lead, the lean right hander was nicked for two runs in the third, both of them due to Brock.

Julian Javier led off with a double high off the wall in left but was still standing on second two outs later. Brock, however, bounced a single through the right side for one run, stole second and then scored the second run on Curt Flood's line single to left. The St. Louis swifty, who has now stolen four bases in as many attempts, beat Yastrzemski's strong throw home with a belly whopper.

More On Series, Page 33

After Roger Maris singled to right, advancing Flood to third, Waslewski survived his first crisis by getting Orlando Cepeda on a soft grounder to third baseman Foy.

The Red Sox fourth-inning bombardment, which sent the packed crowd of 35,188 leaping to its feet on three occasions, put Waslewski back in front but the young pitcher's control faltered in the sixth. Wyatt took over after Waslewski walked Maris on four pitches, got Cepeda on a short fly to right, walked McCarver on four serves and threw one ball to Shannon.

Wyatt retired Shannon with his first pitch and got Javier on a bitterly contested play at first, Foy to Scott. But he couldn't hold the lead in the seventh as pinch-hitter Bob Tolan walked and Brock blasted a 450-foot shot high over the Boston bullpen for the tying runs.

Tolan was hitting for third-game winner Nelson Briles, who didn't allow a hit in two innings of relief, and when it came time for Schoendienst to bring in a new pitcher, he signalled for Lamabe, a former member of the Red Sox and New York Mets.

Lamabe was charged with the defeat.

The 11 pitchers used by both teams snapped the record of 10 accomplished three times previously while the eight hurlers employed by the Cards tied a dubious mark set by the 1961 Cincinnati Reds against the Yankees.

Hughes, the victim of all four Boston home runs, became the first pitcher ever to yield three home runs in one Series inning, the third to allow four in one game and the second to be tagged for five in one Series, tying Lew Burdette who did the same for the Milwaukee Braves in 1958. Yastrzemski hit a homer off Hughes in the second game which he lost to Lonborg.

KU's Doyle 'Getting Ready' For Huskers

Lawrence, Kan. (UPI) — Kansas linebacker Mickey Doyle makes a habit of getting ready.

And that's the formula he prescribes if his winless Jayhawk teammates are going to upend ninth-ranked Nebraska Saturday.

"They'll be tough all right," Doyle said. "We'll have to be ready if we're going to stop Gregory and Davis and the rest of them."

The 205-pound junior was talking about Ben Gregory, a 219-pound halfback, and fullback Dick Davis—not to mention quarterback Frank Patrick and end Dennis Richnafsky, this week's Big Eight back and lineman of the week.

"We'll have our hands full," the Kansas City product said after a workout. "But if Kansas State can play 'em that well, we can do better."

The Cornhuskers barely escaped the Kansas prairie last weekend, edging Kansas State, 16-14, on a last minute field goal.

Doyle, who stepped into the starting linebacker slot during spring drills, is used to getting ready. He dug ditches and worked with weights in the evenings this summer to get into shape for fall practice.

And the work has proved profitable.

Doyle and defensive captain Mike Sweatman, another linebacker, took charge of the Jayhawk defense this season. Doyle speared a pair of Stanford passes in the Kansas opener and scored 18 tackles against Indiana.

The 20-year-old political science major gives most of the credit to Sweatman.

"Mike's the best I've ever seen. He just doesn't make mistakes and he really helps all of us out there. The coaches have a lot of confidence in him. They let him make almost all the defensive calls."

Doyle will not be new to the invading Huskers. He met them last year as a reserve (Kansas lost, 24-13) and played against many of them as a freshman in 1965.

"That Davis is hard to bring down," he said. "As a freshman he ran us wild."

Since then, Doyle has settled down at linebacker although he smiled recently when asked if he wanted to try fullback — a position coach Pepper Rodgers has been unable to fill adequately after early season injuries.

"I'd be willing to play both ways," Doyle said. "If the coaches thought I could help the team, it would be all right with me."

But then the former all-state prep player has been getting ready for that too.

As a high school star, he played both linebacker and fullback — and once even booted a near 90-yard quick kick.

"You've got to be ready," he said.

. . . IN TOP PREP PAIRINGS

By RICK AKIN
Prep Sports Writer

Blair continues along its long and once muddy road to an undefeated football season and the Ak-Sar-Ben Conference championship, dueling Papillion Friday night in the highlight game in Class B.

The Bears, ranked first in this week's Nebraska Prep Ratings, pushed the throttle to full speed to sideswipe fourth-rated Schuyler and respected Fremont Bergan before gearing down to compensate for a muddy field in a 19-19 tie with Ralston which moved into Class A following the announcement of classification for 1967-68 school year.

Overall Blair is 5-0. Papillion has the same record and is rated third this week, but hasn't faced the Bears' comparatively more demanding schedule.

Papillion has scored at least two touchdown wins over Nebraska City, Ashland, Millard, Syracuse and Wahoo.

The highlight Class A game matches No. 1 Bellevue against No. 5 Omaha North which should settle the American Division of the Metropolitan Conference. Both are undefeated but scored by less-than-a-touchdown victories over Omaha Tech.

Pius X attracts the strongest opponent among the Lincoln schools this weekend. The winless Thunderbolts travel to play Boys Town, the state's No. 2 team.

Lincoln High, felled for the first time last week by Grand Island, and Southeast, a lower only to Bellevue and No. 3 Fremont, continues the intra-city series at Seacrest Field Friday night.

East, idle last weekend, goes to Columbus, which defeated, 13-6, Hastings, a 6-0 winner over the Spartans.

Hastings comes to Seacrest Field for the second time this season to play Northeast, 1-4 on the season, Saturday night.

In other highlight games, Schuyler meets Columbus Scotus, in what would have been an interesting Class B game until No. 1 Scotus moved into Class C.

Undefeated Barneston will try to show up fourth-ranked Lewiston and improved Hayes Center will meet Sutherland in eight-man games:

The weekend predictions:

Lincoln High v. Southeast (Seacrest Field, Friday)—Links seemed a little bitter about losing to Grand Island.

Pius X at Boys Town—This is a Cowboy year.

East at Columbus—Columbus improved but is one of the weaker on East's schedule.

Hastings at Northeast (Seacrest Field, Saturday) — Tigers have defeated only East; Rockets probably grumbling for loss to Beatrice.

North v. Bellevue—Chieftains do little wrong.

Schuyler at Columbus Scotus —A victory for Class C.

Grantham AFL's Top Lineman

By Associated Press

Larry Grantham, who can't help it if rival quarterbacks choose to avoid him, has been selected the American Football League's Defensive Player of the Week by The Associated Press.

Grantham is the veteran linebacker who calls defensive signals for the New York Jets. He intercepted two passes last Saturday night as the Jets jolted previously - unbeaten Oakland 27-14.

The two interceptions were one more than Grantham had managed all last season.

"I can't catch them," smiles Larry, "if they don't throw them my way."

Daryle Lamonica, Oakland's quarterback, had little choice but to throw them Saturday night. New York's offensive line — Garry Philbin, Paul Rochester, Jim Harris and Verlon Biggs—put tremendous pressure on him with as strong a rush as Oakland has been exposed to all year.

"The front four was tremendous," says Grantham. "When they're putting on that kind of rush, the linebackers can concentrate more on pass coverage and do less blitzing. That's what happened against the Raiders."

Pius Reserves Win

Ross Jensen ran for two TD's as Pius X reserves dumped Beatrice second-teamers, 19-7, at Beatrice.

—COMPETITION CLOSE—

Husker Starting Berths Contested At 4 Spots

By HAL BROWN
Star Sports Editor

Closeness in the caliber of personnel at four positions has Nebraska coaches pondering starting assignments for Saturday's football contest against Kansas at Lawrence.

Head coach Bob Devaney said Wednesday four positions are still up for grabs as the Huskers head toward the Saturday date. He put both offensive guard spots, offensive right halfback and left safety in the above category.

Carl Ashman and Joe Armstrong are battling at right guard and the decision must be made between Joe Orduna or Tom Penney at right half.

McCook's Bob Best, apparently recovered from the injury that sidelined him for the Minnesota game and has slowed him for the past couple of weeks, is pushing Dana Stephenson at left safety on defense.

"We have to keep shuffling people so they don't get the idea they have no competition for a job," Devaney explained. "These boys we have mentioned, there is very little to choose between them."

Two-year letterman Jerry Patton, who lost his starting assignment at defensive left tackle last week to Harry Meagher, has apparently regained the top spot, but Devaney indicated Meagher was still very close.

"Meagher has done a good job for us and he's sure to see a lot of action," Devaney said.

Devaney disclosed Wednesday that Mike Green, the No. 2 left halfback behind Ben Gregory, may not make the Kansas trip because of an injury suffered Tuesday.

"He seemed to have a bad ankle today (Wednesday)," the Husker coach pointed out, "and he won't make the trip."

Devaney said Frank Vactor likely would replace Green on the traveling squad if the Omaha junior doesn't recover sufficiently by today.

Top Dogs Will Visit Lincoln October 28-29

An estimated 100 dogs, some of the finest hunting animals in the country, will visit Nebraska over the weekend of Oct. 28 and 29 for the national A.K.C. licensed Vizsla field trials, the Nebraska Game Commission notes.

Several field trials sanctioned by the American Kennel Club have been conducted in Nebraska by the Vizsla Club of America, but this is the first licensed national meet. Entries, which are limited to Vizslas, are expected from the 48 continental states. The field trials will be held at the Thomas Sanley farm, three miles south of Rising City.

Big 8 Grid Workouts

Kansas

Manhattan, Kan. (AP)—Coach Vince Gibson said Wednesday that morale of the Kansas State football team is at its highest despite the Wildcats 16-14 loss to Nebraska Saturday.

"We have great morale; we're going to get better and they're working hard," Gibson said.

He told the Student Quarterback Club Wednesday that Kansas State was going to compete and other teams better strap their hats on.

He said the game against Iowa State this Saturday would be a tough one and that it could be "that close" separating his thumb and forefinger only slightly.

Kansas State

Lawrence, Kan. (AP)—Kansas Coach Pepper Rodgers said Wednesday that Emery Hicks, No. 1 defensive middle guard, has been suspended from the football team at least through the Big Eight opener against Nebraska this Saturday.

Rodgers said the suspension was a disciplinary measure and that he would decide next week whether Hicks would be reinstated for the Oklahoma State game, Oct. 21.

"It is a matter of policy that's all; we have polices that all players must stick by. It could be a little or big thing, according to how Emery reacts," Rodger said. He would not say why Hicks was suspended.

Hicks, a sophomore from Nowata, Okla., also had no comment on his suspension other than that he thought it was justified and that he hoped to return to the squad next week.

Rodgers said Hicks would be replaced by Willie McDaniel, 200-pound sophomore.

Following the practice session, Rodgers said he was pleased with the team's performance.

Missouri

Columbia, Mo. (AP)—Missouri held its final heavy workout Wednesday in preparation for Saturday's Big Eight football showdown with Colorado at Boulder. The Tigers were to have a lighter practice Thursday morning, then fly to Denver and arrive in Boulder by bus Thursday night.

The only regular definitely scratched from the travel list was halfback Jon Staggers, who has a shoulder separation. Defensive back Roger Wehrli, who has been hospitalized because of an ulcer, worked out with the squad Wednesday.

Iowa State

Ames, Iowa (AP) — Kansas State's passing attack received most of the attention of the defensive unit of the Iowa State football team in drills Wednesday.

K-State, which faces Iowa State here Saturday, ranks third in Big Eight passing statistics, averaging 144 yards per game this season.

Sighting-In Day Set By Walton League

The Lincoln Chapter of the Izaak Walton League will hold a sighting-in day for all deer hunters of the area Sunday.

The club range located at 5100 North 48th St. will be open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Members of the club will be on hand all day to help hunters properly sight-in their rifles.

LHS Reserve Hurt

Lincoln High reserve quarterback Chuck Sinclair was taken to Bryan Memorial Hospital Wednesday night after being injured during the last minute of play in a game with Grand Island reserves. The extent of the injury was not immediately known.

Finley Says It's Oakland For His A's

Chicago (AP)—Charles O. Finley said Wednesday he has decided that Oakland, Calif., is where he wants to shift his Kansas City American League baseball franchise for 1968 and added "I am hopeful the league owners will grant me approval."

"The other owners were informed by letter from me today of my intentions," Finley said. "It will take six votes in addition to our own to carry it. I'm not sure I've got them. I have talked it over with only three or four owners. I have no guarantee or assurance at all. I'm just hopeful."

Finley said he and the owners will meet in Chicago next Wednesday and that "I am hopeful the whole thing can be settled in that one day — I think it can."

The Athletics moved to Kansas City from Philadelphia in 1955. They finished last in the A. L. this season.

Finley said he would not estimate his losses, although Robert T. Nahas, president of Oakland's Coliseum Corp., said in Oakland that Finley has "lost $4 million in baseball and is still enthusiastic."

Player To Defend In Picadilly

Virginia Water, England (AP)—Gary Player opens defense of his title in the Picadilly Match Play Golf Championship Thursday in a sort of grudge match with Gay Brewer, the U.S. Masters titleholder.

Brewer, who earlier this week captured the $55,000 first prize in the Alcan Player of the Year event at St. Andrews, reportedly ruffled Player's feelings with a remark at the Masters last spring.

The 35-year-old Texan was quoted as saying: "Who's Gary Player?"

Hodges Quits Nats To Manage Mets

Boston (AP)— Gil Hodges, one-time star first baseman of the Brooklyn Dodgers, gave up his job as manager of the Washington Senators Wednesday to go home and manage the New York Mets.

Hodges, who has lived in Brooklyn since 1948, received a three-year contract from the Mets which he called "the best contract I've ever had in baseball." He succeeds Wes Westrum, who resigned shortly before the end of the season.

For allowing New York to talk with Hodges and therefore convincing him to give up the one year he had left on his Washington contract, the Senators will receive a substantial amount of cash and a player to be named later from the Mets' current 40-man roster.

"The most important factor in my decision was that I'll be coming home," Hodges told a news conference a few hours before Boston and St. Louis met in the sixth game of the World Series.

"It was quite a decision to make. My association with the Washington ball club was wonderful at all times. The fans, the people, the front office all have been wonderful."

The Mets have been eyeing Hodges at least since Casey Stengel, their original manager, broke his hip in the middle of the 1965 season. Hodges, however, always has been under contract to Washington at the times the Mets could have gone after him.

Finally, the Mets asked General Manager George Selkirk of the Senators for permission to talk with Hodges, and they received it last Saturday night.

"George came to me in St. Louis Saturday night," Hodges said, "and told me he had granted permission for the Mets to talk to me. He said this was possibly the best way to handle it. We discussed the situation and decided that if this was the way things were going to be, that's the way they would be.

"After we talked about it, he mentioned a new contract, but there wasn't anything specific."

President Bing Devine of the Mets took over from there and talked to Hodges for 1½ hours while he drove him to the St. Louis airport Monday.

He indicated he would make a quick decision," Devine said. "He called me Tuesday evening and told me of his acceptance."

In taking over the last-place Mets, Hodges faces a situation similar to the one he had when he replaced Mickey Vernon as manager of the Senators on May 22, 1963.

Washington, incidentally, acquired him from the Mets who had claimed him from the Dodgers in the National League's expansion draft in 1961.

When Hodges took command of the Senators, they were 10th. They were there at the end of the season, too, but they climbed to ninth in 1964 and eighth the next two years. This season they tied Baltimore for sixth.

Bear Says He's Sorry About That

Oxford, Miss. (AP) — Mississippi Coach John Vaught said Wednesday Alabama gained 38 of the 42 yards in its first touchdown drive against the Rebels "from an illegal formation."

"I'm not accusing Alabama of cheating," added Vaught, whose team was beaten 21-7 last Saturday at Brimingham, Ala., in a nationally-televised collegiate football game.

"I'm not accusing Bryant of anything. But I want very badly for the people to know about this."

Bryant disclosed Tuesday he had been advised that his team used an illegal formation—"that each time we went into an unbalanced line or had two tight ends in the game at the same time . . . we were unknowingly using an illegal formation."

"The Bear denies his knowledge of this rule," continued Vaught.

The game officials did not call the violation but Vaught said he didn't think "an official should suspect" an intentional violation.

"Bear told me he was sorry, that he didn't know the plays were illegal," said Vaught. "I cannot accept that."

Huskers Lead Defense, 3rd In Big 8 Offense

Kansas City, Mo. — If offense was to be the big problem this year at Nebraska, perhaps the Cornhuskers are in as good position now to win their fifth straight Big Eight Conference title than they were last year going after No. 4 in a row.

The success of the season, according to the Nebraska coaching staff, would be predicated upon the development of a new offensive line and how quickly one of three quarterback prospects took over. Apparently the rise to maturity of the offensive line and the arrival of Frank Patrick at quarterback have been satisfying.

Through the first three games, including one in bad weather, the Huskers have gone on a total offense binge that shows 982 yards, including 554 on the ground and 428 in the air.

This total is six yards over the Husker total of last year when they were operating with a veteran line and a very potent backfield. What's more, the needed balance preached yearly by Coach Bob Devaney is there, too, though just slightly off that of last year, which showed 503 rushing and 473 passing at this time.

With the offense doing its share, the Husker defense has become as potent as ever, showing a ground allowance of only 46 yards a game and a total defense low of but 150.3 a contest. Both figures lead the league. Oklahoma State, with its Harry Cheatwood-led band of deep raiders, has the pass defense top with a 68.3 average.

Offensively, it is Oklahoma on top in rushing (273.5) and total offense (390.5), holding its lead in both departments though idle. Surprisingly, Colorado has taken over the passing offense top spot, showing a 156.3 per-game average. Dropping to second was Kansas, the leader early (149.0).

Rico Has To Run Home After Homers

Boston (AP) — Rico Petrocelli hurried into the clubhouse, sat down on the chair in front of his locker and started ripping off his clothes.

The shoes came first, then the shirt, the socks, the undershirt and the pants.

"Where're you going in such a hurry? someone asked the Boston shortstop.

"I'm going home," he said, leaning over and putting shower sandals on his feet. "I got three kids to help with."

But the mob in the victorious Boston clubhouse wouldn't let Rico go.

They made him stay and savor the two home runs he socked that helped the Red Sox defeat St. Louis 8-4 Wednesday and force the seventh and deciding game of the World Series today.

The home runs, blasts of 315 and 360 feet off Dick Hughes in the second and the fourth innings, were especially surprising because Petrocelli had managed only one hit in 14 times at bat in the first five games of the series.

"I'd been fouling off my pitch in the whole series," the 24-year-old shortstop explained. "I'd get my pitch to hit, and I'd foul it back. Then Bobby Doerr (Boston coach) helped me.

"He told me I had been sort of upper cutting the ball, so today I tried to swing down on the ball, get on the top of it, and I finally bit something.

"When you're not hitting, you press. But the first homer really lifted me. I felt more confident, more relaxed at the plate."

What was his reaction to the homers, the first of which was the first run of the game and the second the blow that climaxed a three-homer barrage and finished Hughes in the fourth?

"They both surprised me," Rico said, his dark eyes sparkling. "Anytime I get a hit, it surprises me. I just threw the bat out, and the ball hit the bat. After the second one I was in another world. I got chills running around the bases."

Petrocelli, who hit 17 homers during the season, said he wasn't trying for another one when he came to bat in the sixth and flied out.

"As I went up to the plate," he said, "I told myself two's real lucky. I'll never get a third. I'll just try to hit the ball."

Petrocilli started the season hitting the ball well and continued doing it until June 23 when he was hit by a pitch. He was out of the starting line-up until July 26.

Part of the reason for his improved play was the responsibility Manager Dick Williams gave him in spring training.

"He made me the field leader — not captain, but a field leader," Petrocilli explained. "I would move a guy around on a batter and talk to the pitcher once in a while. Things like that.

"It really made me feel good to know that he had that confidence in me."

Petrocelli also had confidence that he would break out of his Series slump.

"I knew I was a better hitter than that," he said. "But I didn't have time to worry about my hitting. I was so busy at home helping my wife with the kids. I change the kids' diapers and help feed them.

"We couldn't get a babysitter," Rico explained, "so my wife had to stay home. This was the first game she's missed. She saw the first two and went to St. Louis with me. We left the kids with a nurse."

Will Elsie be there for the seventh game Thursday?

"I don't know," Rico said. "She'll be there if we can get a babysitter."

The Red Sox certainly won't let Rico stay home and watch the kids.

—'DOWN TO A 1-GAME SERIES'—

Cards' Batting Order 'May Be Shuffled' Today

Boston (AP) — "It's come down to a one-game Series."

Manager Red Schoendienst had that comment as he sipped a cold drink and discussed Wednesday's 8-4 loss to Boston that evened the 1967 World Series at three games each.

The Redbird manager said he was surprised at the way Boston hitters pounded starter Dick Hughes. "Hughes got the ball up too much," Schoendienst said. "He's a low ball pitcher."

Hughes, who gave up five hits, four of them homers in 4 2-3 innings, added: "I really didn't feel like I had good stuff. I tried to work hard to make up for it."

Schoendienst said he probably will go with the same line-up for today's seventh and deciding game. But, he added, he might make a couple of batting changes "but I won't decide on them until I come out here Thursday (today)."

Lou Brock continued to be the Cardinals' big bat, getting two hits — including a seventh-inning two-run homer that tied the game, 4-4.

Brock was asked about a double by Boston's Joe Foy that bounced off the left field wall.

"I tried for the ball," Brock said. "It just went over my glove.

"We didn't get here by playing safety first—I went for the ball and was throwing home to try to cut the run off," Brock said. A run scored and Foy went to third on the throw.

Curt Flood, the St. Louis centerfielder said he felt the Redbirds would come on strong after they tied the game 4-4 in the top of the seventh.

"I knew if we could hold them, we'd win it," Flood said. "I felt we were really going to get started in that inning."

Bob Gibson, the St. Louis right-hander who has two of the three Cardinal victories, said he was ready to pitch the seventh game.

"I just want to go out and do the job. Nervous? Maybe after the first game! But it's not so bad now," Gibson said.

The Cardinal fireballer will face Jim Lonborg, who has two of Boston's three victories. But Gibson will have had three days rest compared to Lonborg's two.

"It's that little something extra that wins a World Series," Gibson added.

Dal Maxvill, the fine fielding St. Louis shortstop, said he never saw George Scott's grounder hit through the hole in the seventh inning.

"I don't know why I lost it," Maxvill explained. "I heard the bat and threw my glove up in defense. I lunged to my right, but the ball went by on my left."

7 Vets Boost Bluejay Cagers

Omaha — Seven lettermen, including three starters from last year's 12-13 club, head the list of candidates as varsity basketball practice gets under way Sunday at Creighton University.

A two-hour session, beginning at 2 p.m. is planned by coach Red McManus.

Freshman candidates under new coach Tim Powers will report Monday at 3:30 p.m.

Oct. 15 is the first day practice is permitted by NCAA regulations. McManus, beginning his ninth year as CU head basketball coach, will waste no time getting ready for the Dec. 1 home opener with Temple University. Picture Day on Wednesday will provide only a temporary respite from expected intense first-week conditioning.

"We're going to have to be ready to go right away against Temple," McManus said. "They were 20-8 last year and return four of their five starters." The Owls will be trying to break a Bluejay home-opener victory skein extending all the way to Dec. 20, 1935, when visiting Brigham Young upended coach Eddie Hickey's first Jay squad, 43-36.

Creighton's hopes, as it prepares for another tough intersectional schedule, will be pinned on veterans Wally Anderzunas, 6-7 senior, and Bob Portman, 6-5 junior, at forward with 5-11 junior Dave Hickey quarterbacking in McManus' single-guard offense. Two-year letterman Paul Michael, 6-6, and 6-7 junior Steve Jansa have first shot at the other starting assignments.

This would give Creighton good front-line height on paper. McManus will be looking for more aggressiveness on the part of both Michael and Jansa to pep up rebounding which slacked off last season after the mid-year injury to CU's new frosh coach, Tim Powers.

Other lettermen returning are Jerry Babcock, 6-4 senior, and Jack Ilcisin, 6-3 junior. Frank DiLeo, a squad member a year ago, will be bidding at guard. Jack Ketterer, 6-0 guard from Lincoln Northeast heads the sophomore prospects. Other first-year men are Brendan Balen, 6-3; John Bova, 6-2; Art Moore, 6-2; Bob Walter, 6-3; and Gene Pace, 6-7 product from Omaha Benson.

Development of strength at the low pivot where the loss of Powers a year ago proved catastrophic will be one of the challenges facing McManus. Both Jansa and Michael have looked more effective playing on top of the key. Of the two, Jansa is a better leaper, stronger, and could get the under-the-basket assignment.

In Anderzunas, co-captain with Michael, and Portman the Bluejays have one of the better forward tandems in college basketball. Anderzunas is fully recovered from a mononucleosis attack which felled him last February. He still finished with a 15.5 scoring average. Portman was outstanding as a sophomore, leading the team both in scoring (18.3) and rebounding (11.4).

Five Peru Girls Vie For Queen

Peru—Five Peru State College coeds will vie for the title of the 1967 Homecoming Queen at Nebraska's first college Saturday.

Balloting last week narrowed the field to five finalists from a list of all Peru State coeds in the sophomore, junior, and senior classes. The final selection will be made during all-student voting this week.

Wayne State Visits Peru Homecoming

Peru — Peru State College will host Wayne State College at 2 p.m. Saturday, in the 46th annual Peru State College Homecoming Day football clash.

Saturday's game will pit winless Peru State against a Wayne State team which has won three of five outings. Last Saturday Kearney State handed Wayne a 35-14 Nebraska College Conference setback. In comparison, Kearney, two Saturdays ago, belted Peru State 42-0.

Cougar-Killer Is Top Lineman

By Associated Press

Terry Brookshire gave little thought to his performance before last Saturday's football game against Houston, but both he and the Cougars are looking back on it now—Brookshire with pleasure, the Cougars with anguish.

The 5-foot-10, 210-pound middle guard stirred North Carolina State's defense that led the Wolfpack to a 16-6 upset over Houston, then the nation's second-ranked college football team.

One of his tackles caused a fumble that opened the way to a field goal. He blocked an extra point attempt and made 11 tackles as State stopped Houston's 40-point-a-game offensive machine.

For his performance, Brookshire has been selected as the Associated Press College Lineman of the Week.

"I didn't think anything about my performance before the game," the 22-year-old senior said, "but I realized afterward I had a pretty good game. I was in on more tackles than usual for a lineman."

Brookshire is the bulldog in the middle according to Coach Earl Edwards.

"We've improved each week," Brookshire said. "People haven't been able to score on us."

The Pack, now ranked ninth with a 4-0 record has not allowed more than 10 points in any game.

Ed Harmon, a linebacker for Louisville, also rated high for his showing in the Cardinals' 29-7 victory over Dayton. The 235-pound senior intercepted a pass and returned it 32 yards to set up a score, broke up two other passes, recovered a fumble and made seven tackles.

Wichita guard Ronnie Cox made 13 tackles, recovered one fumble and forced another in a 14-6 loss to Cincinnati.

Linebacker Jim Lavrusky of Maryland was credited with 18 unassisted tackles and assisted on nine others as the Terps, a two-touchdown underdog, lost to Syracuse 7-3.

Offensive ends also put on a show Saturday. Bill Wazevich, a Columbia sophomore, set a school record by catching 12 passes for 214 yards.

Dennis Richnafsky of Nebraska caught 14, a Big Eight record, for 145 yards and one touchdown. He also set up another TD and a field goal.

Big Eight Leads Out In Defense

New York — The Big Eight currently ranks as one of the toughest defensive conferences in the nation, according to figures released Wednesday by the National Collegiate Sports Services.

Nebraska ranks fourth in both total defense and rushing defense, allowing only 46 yards per game against rushing and 150.3 yards per contest against both rushing and passing.

Syracuse is the leader in both total defense and rushing defense on 129.0 and 18.7 figures, respectively.

Missouri ranks seventh in total defense, allowing 176.0 yards per outing and the Tigers are sixth in rushing defense, giving up only 57.3 yards per game. Oklahoma is seventh in rushing defense with a 57.5 allotment figure.

The Sooners also are among the leaders in total offense and rushing offense, having gained an average of 390.5 yards per game to tie for the eighth spot in total offense and picking up 273.5 rushing to tank second only to UCLA with 287.3.

Oklahoma also remains as the only major team yet to be scored on with a perfect mark in two games. Missouri is tied for second with Syracuse in defense against scoring, giving up only nine points in three games.

Kansas State with Bob Coble doing all of the punting has the lead in this department with a 45.7 average.

Colorado defensive backs Charles Greer and Dick Anderson rank with the leaders in punt returns with Greer fifth on 212 yards in eight returns and Anderson third in interception returns with 51 yards on four interceptions.

Irish-Southern Cal Tilt Not For Love-In Crowd

By DICK DUNKEL

Ah. Peace and love.

Flowers, they say, will be exchanged by opposing linemen in the Notre Dame-Southern Cal game. And at halftime the coaches will don leotards and do a friendship ballet.

In 1980, maybe. So far the Hippies haven't staged their first football-in.

Next Saturday's renewal will pit the No. 2 Irish against the No. 3 Trojans in one of their old-fashioned nose-flatteners. Both are after that No. 1 position.

And there will be plenty of other belligerency in the wide open race for the nation's highest rating.

Here are Index differences which members of the Top 12 show over this week's foes, indicating what they must do in order to maintain the pace they've set for themselves to date:

Purdue 26 over Ohio St.
Notre Dame 4 over South'n Cal
N.C. State 29 over Maryland
LSU 16 over Miami, Fla.
Georgia 14 over Ole Miss
Alabama 27 over Vanderbilt
UCLA 14 over California
Tennessee 6 over Ga. Tech
Wyoming 18 over Utah

That's par — not a forecast. Improvement upon par raises ratings or vice versa.

The higher rating teams have won in 75.8% of the 631 games, excluding ties, covered here through last week.

Hunter's Clock

Shooting hours for deer, turkey, and antelope are one-half hour before sunrise to one-half hour after sunset. Hours for the early teal season, rails, and snipe are sunrise to sunset. Quail hours are one-half hour before sunrise to one-half hour before sunset. All other game may be taken from one-half hour before sunrise to sunset.

The following applies to any point in Nebraska that is due north or due south of each of the cities and towns. For each 13 miles west of any designated city add one minute, and for each 13 miles east subtract one minute. Valentine and Scottsbluff schedules are Mountain Daylight Time. All others are Central Daylight Time. Hunters should set their watches according to the time zone in which they are hunting.

Indonesian President Suharto Increases Power

Jakarta (UPI) — Acting President Suharto Wednesday made cabinet ministers directly responsible to him alone in a cabinet reshuffle that increased his powers.

He said he acted because the general elections ordered by congress for next July probably "could not be held."

In conjunction with the reshuffle, Suharto abolished a supervisory presidium originally established by former President Sukarno. The presidium was comprised of five high-ranking cabinet ministers, including Suharto, to whom the rest of the ministers were responsible.

Henceforth, ministers will be responsible only to Suharto.

Suharto retained most of the former ministers including two other members of the old presidium — Foreign Minister Adam Malik and Sultan Hamengku Buwono, the minister of economy and finance. Suharto retained the post as minister of defense and security.

It was the first change since Suharto set up an interim cabinet July 25, 1966.

Perhaps the most significant change was the ouster of Bratanata as minister of mining and his replacement by Sumantri Brobjonegoro, a professor at the Bandung Institute of Technology.

Bratanata had openly challenged Maj. Gen. Ibnu Sutowo's oil contract policies. His removal meant he had lost his anticorruption battle with the army.

Suharto's reshuffle also streamlined the cabinet, reducing the ministers from 27 to 23, combining the ministry of industry with that of economy and finance, adding a new ministry of resettlement and officially dropping the four armed forces commanders.

Planners OK One Of Three 84th And A Zoning Requests

By BOB SCHREPF
Star Staff Writer

The City-County Planning Commission Wednesday recommended approval of a change of zone from residential to planned commerical use on the northwest corner of 84th and A, but turned down similar requests for commercial zoning on the northeast and southwest corners of that intersection.

The property gaining approval for commercial use is a 6.9-acre tract owned by Whitehead Oil Co. and William Fry.

Developmnte plans include construction of a service station, commercial center and parking area.

Urge Denial

The commission recommended denial of requests for local business zoning on the southwest corner by Harold P. Jacobs and for planned commercial and local business zoning on the northeast corner by Hergert Oil Co.

Jacobs and Hergert had proposed development plans similar to Whitehead.

The commission's decision on the Whitehead rezoning request ran contrary to the planning staff's opinion that there is no need for commercial zoning in the 84th and A area and that commercial zoning "in any one of these locations will have an adverse effect on the adjacent residential areas."

The commission split 5-3 on the Whitehead vote. Favoring the rezoning were Robert Allington, Mrs. J. Edmunds Miller, Ed Perry, Frank White and George Williamson. Against were Steve Cook, George David and Jerome Warner.

On Own Merits

During debate David argued that "if you allow one, you should allow them all." However, the commission majority agreed that each rezoning application should be considered on its own merits.

Whitehead's application for commercial zoning was the first submitted.

While Whitehead's attorney Lloyd Marti maintained that 84th will become a major traffic-bearing street requiring commerical development, Planning Director Douglas Brogden said traffic projections show that 84th will carry less traffic volume and less through traffic with the advent of the proposed East Side Freeway to the east of 84th.

Jerry Snyder, attorney for Jacobs and Hergert Oil Co., told the commission that zoning commerical on only one corner "discriminates against local businessmen."

All Opposed

All three requests for commercial zoning were opposed by area residents.

Developers platting subdivisions in the area testified that they did not oppose the Whitehead request but were against rezoning for Hergert and Jacobs.

Attorney David Pierson, representing Hergert Bros., said the developers oppose "a proliferation of service stations and commercial uses on this corner."

Other recommendations:

—Change of zone from A-2 single family to F restricted commercial on property between 57th and 58th, north of R, requested by A. H. Krantz, denied.

—Proposed amendment to the County Zoning Regulations removing uses such as junk yards from the list of permitted uses in the county business districts, approved.

—Special permit to amend the community unit plan to allow construction of a church and parsonage at 77th and A, requested by Wedgewood Manor, Inc., approved.

—Vacating 47th, between Dudley and Orchard, approved.

—Final plat, Echo Hills addition, 84th and A, approved.

—Preliminary plats, Skyline's Rolling Hills, U.S. 77 and Old Cheney Road, approved and Indian Hills 1st addition, 84th and A, deferred.

Alert Car Salesman Helps Nab Omaha Holdup Suspect

Omaha (AP)—An alert used car salesman provided the tip which led police to an early arrest in connection with a $600 holdup at the King Loan Co. in South Omaha Wednesday.

The man held without bond was identified only as a 32-year-old ex-convict from Des Moines. Police said papers he carried indicated he had been released recently from the Indiana State Penitentiary and also had served time in Ohio.

Police said that following the holdup a man, apparently the bandit, ran to Doug's Auto Sales nearby and asked the owner, Douglas Woodward, about purchasing a car.

Woodward said the man first asked for a trial drive and while on the drive, said he would have to go to a downtown bank to obtain money.

Woodward said as he reached the downtown area during the trial drive, he heard a news bulletin on the car radio about the holdup. He said the description fitted his passenger, who suddenly became fidgety, said he had changed his mind and asked to get out of the car. He gave Woodward $5 for his trouble.

Woodward said he circled the block looking for a police cruiser and police converged on the area. Sgt. John Regner and Patrolman Robert Iltzsch saw the man in the bus station.

They found the cash from the robbery in his pocket and a loaded .38 caliber revolver was located in a suitcase which had been placed in a parcel locker.

'Thunderbirds' Fly In For Air Show

By GARY CLAXTON
Star Staff Writer

"Sunburned tonsils," one brass-laden officer described it.

It comes from looking up into the air with your mouth open.

And a sizable crowd of service men and civilians did just that when the crack U.S. Air Force flying team, the Thunderbirds, roared into Lincoln Wednesday.

Few In

The group flew in for a 5 p.m. performance Thursday at the aviation open house to be held from 2 p.m. to 7:30 p.m. at the Lincoln Municipal Airport.

The event, sponsored by the Nebraska Air National Guard, Lincoln Airport Authority and the Lincoln Chamber of Commerce, will feature static displays of both military and civilian aircraft and will include a walk-through tour of a United Airlines Boeing 727 three-engine jet aircraft.

The Thunderbirds were scheduled to perform at a similar open house last April 1, but were forced to cancel due to rain.

Clear Skies Good

Maj. Stanton Musser expressed pleasure at the cloudless skies when the team arrived. He explained the group flies one of three different routines depending on cloud condition.

Musser said three of the six demonstration pilots rotate each year. He has 177 combat missions over Vietnam to his credit. And he explained that the three men who will leave the group this year have all requested assignment to a fighter squadron in Vietnam.

He explained the routines are all flown by visual reference rather than by instruments. He said each flier must develop a dependence on the wing commander who guides each exercise.

No Time For Fear

"You're so busy concentrating mentally and physically that you don't have time to be worried about getting scared," he said.

He said 44 enlisted men under the direction of Maj. Robert Haney, the group's maintenance officer, keep the planes in condition. And he said the mechanics are as carefully screened as the team members themselves.

He said about 100 to 150 applications for the three flying vacancies are received each year. These are processed down to a small group that travels on the road with the team to be judged on how they get along socially and during interviews.

The team members then fly with the remaining applicants to make the final decision.

McCreight, Longtime State Educator, Dies

Longtime Nebraska educator Dr. Russell W. McCreight, 56, of 814 Mulder Dr., died Wednesday after suffering a heart attack in his car near 33rd and D.

Police said Dr. McCreight's westbound car rapidly accelerated through the intersection, jumped a curb, sideswiped a tree and struck a house at 1041 So. 33rd, finally stopping some 131 feet from the point of acceleration.

Attempts by a passing nurse to revive Dr. McCreight, an associate professor of elementary education at the University of Nebraska, were unsuccessful.

A native of Endicott, Dr. McCreight taught school in southeast Nebraska before becoming school superintendent of Jefferson County in 1939.

After serving in World War II, Dr. McCreight retired from the U.S. Naval reserve and became a training specialist for the Veterans Administration in Lincoln.

Dr. McCreight first joined the university staff in 1950, served as acting head of the Department of Elementary Education and directed the elementary student teaching program. He held a B.A. from Peru State, a M.Ed. from the University of Nebraska, and received his Ph.D. from the University of Iowa in 1955. He was a member of several professional societies and organizations.

He is survived by his wife, Frances, and three sons, Gene and Paul, both of Lincoln, and Keith of Omaha.

Deputy County Attorney Ron Lahners said the death will not be classified as a traffic fatality.

Grand Islander Dies In Pueblo After Accident

Pueblo, Colo. (AP) — Robert L. Luttrell, 38, of Grand Island, died in a Pueblo hospital Wednesday of injuries suffered Sept. 29 when a station wagon in which he was a passenger, overturned three times northeast of Pueblo.

The State Patrol said Luttrell, suffered head injuries.

The driver, Gordon Fidler, 23, of Boulder, Colo., was treated at a hospital for back injuries.

Townhouse Plan Eyed For Omaha

Omaha (UPI) — Plans were announced here Wednesday for the construction of a $7 million townhouse project southwest of 132nd and Pacific Sts.

The plans would hinge on rezoning of the area involved.

James. A. Strauss, president of Strauss Brothers, said construction could start early next year, with occupancy by May.

The plans call for 240 units, with the sale price of each from $20,000 to $52,500.

Some objections have already been received to the rezoning request.

Scottsbluff Man Killed In Vietnam

Washington (AP) — The Defense Deparmtnet Wednesday released the name of another Nebraska serviceman killed in action in Vietnam.

He was identified as Army Pfc. Ray Gevara Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Refugio Gevara of Scottsbluff.

Boycott Possible

Tokyo (AP) — A Red Chinese Politburo member indicated Peking will boycott the celebration of the October Revolution in Moscow. He accused Soviet leaders of planning to use the occasion for an international Communist conference to assail China.

GOP—'Tax Proposal Demo Gimmick'

Washington (UPI) — Republicans rejected as an impractical gimmick Wednesday a Democratic proposal to end the impasse over taxes and spending. GOP leaders said, "The life or death of the President's tax bill is up to the President."

But President Johnson, signing the Small Business Act amendment at the White House, tossed the burden back to the lawmakers. "I remind the Congress and the country," he said, "that the greatest service the Congress can now perform for American business . . . is to enact that (tax) legislation promptly, before it is too late."

He said he believed "most businessmen would rather pay a little more in taxes than expose themselves to the uncertain and uneven effects of tight money and spiraling interest rates. The tax surcharge proposal now pending before the Congress can work to remove this threat."

Budget Cuts Sought

Republican House members, meeting as members of the GOP Conference, adopted a resolution supporting the decision of the Ways and Means Committee to shelve the administration's tax increase bill until the President recommends $5 billion in budget cuts.

Johnson's bill to impose a 10% surcharge on individual and business income taxes is stalled because the Republicans, and many Democrats, insist that the President offer specific spending cuts first.

But the White House has refused, claiming such cuts are the duty of Congress, and Sen. George A. Smathers, D-Fla., offered a compromise Tuesday under which spending would be automatically cut by the Treasury Department, which would slash every appropriation bill by three per cent.

Ford Critical

House GOP leader Gerald R. Ford dismissed the compromise proposal as "a gimmick that doesn't have any substance."

Rep. John Rhodes, R-Ariz., chairman of the House GOP Policy Committee, called it "an impractical approach."

Noting that the GOP Conference had upheld shelving the bill in the Ways and Means Committee, Ford said, "There is no evidence at the moment that the President's tax bill will be approved."

By bouncing a powerful beam of light off an orbiting satellite, scientists hope to pinpoint places on earth within inches. Some present calculations are believed to err by 2,000 feet or more.

UAW-Ford News Ban To Continue

Detroit (AP) — Auto negotiators extended their news blackout for an indefinite period Wednesday night, fueling speculation that a break —or possibly even settlement —could be near in the 35-day-old strike against Ford Motor Co.

Spokesmen for both sides made a brief announcement of the extension as the 9 p.m. expiration of the 24-hour blackout, imposed Tuesday, arrived.

"The mutual agreement between the company and the union is being extended," one of the spokesmen told about 50 newsmen in the Ford headquarters in suburban Dearborn.

Newsmen asked if the extension would be for another 24-hour period and the spokesman said "it could be for more or less."

The spokesman said, in answer to a question, that bargainers for the company and the United Auto Workers would not meet with newsmen or see them at any time during the blackout, which in previous years often has heralded a break in deadlocked talks.

Extension of the blackout followed—possibly coincidentally — a meeting of the Ford board of directors earlier Wednesday.

There were indications that Ford and UAW negotiators might be conferring elsewhere, while the company directors were meeting behind closely guarded closed doors high in Ford headquarters in suburban Dearborn.

Courthouse Fight Results In One Death

Lakeport, Calif. (AP)—Three manacled convicts were being led into court Wednesday when one struck a sheriff's deputy, grabbed his gun and shot a second deputy to death.

In the melee that followed, the gun spun away, the judge kicked it aside and the district attorney seized it.

Deputy Dave Hoyt, 52, was shot in the chest during the struggle. Before he died, he staggered across the room, took a pistol form beneath a counter and fired, wounding Larry Taylor, 22, one of the prisoners.

Taylor, of Santa Rosa, along with John Lynn, 23, of Ventura County and Raymond Pettis, 24, of San Diego, was being led from jail to Superior Court across the hall for arraignment on charges of escaping from a prison camp last month.

One of the prisoners grabbed the gun from deputy Glen Isham and struck him on the head. Isham wasn't seriously hurt.

The struggle took place outside the chambers of Superior Court Judge Ralph V. Devoto, 63, who joined the struggle. He pushed the gun within reach of Dist. Atty. David L. Luce, 53, who grabbed it.

"It just sort of ended right there," Luce said.

Stock Mart Takes Another Stiff Loss

New York (AP) — The stock market took its second stiff loss in a row Wednesday as trading continued active.

Analysts saw the market as "nervous" and hanging on the edge of a technical support line which, if broken, could lead to another sharp drop but, if not broken, should lead to a good recovery move.

The theoretical support is 920 in the Dow Jones industrai average.

The Dow industrials fell 6.35 to 920.25.

Volume was 11.23 million shares compared with 12 million Tuesday.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks dropped 1.3 to 333.4 with industrials off 2.2 rails off .4 and utilties off .5 to a new low for the year.

Of 1,487 issues traded on the New York Stock Exchange, 854 fell and 399 rose. New highs for the year totaled 40 and new lows 52.

A rise in the jobless rate in mid-September and a gain in business inventories reported for August were other depressing news factors.

Eight of the 15 most active stocks advanced and seven declined.

Continental Air Lines was the most active stock, up ½ at 25⅞.

Profit taking among the glamor stocks was evidenced on the most active list by declines of 5¾ in Scientific Data and 2¾ in Sperry Rand.

One of the outstanding displays of strength was given by IBM. The stock sold as low as 565 just before the company released an earnings report which looked surprisingly good to Wall Street. This attracted many buyers and IBM closed with a gain of 10 points at 580.

Raytheon, despite a report of higher earnings, sank 1¾.

Goodrich lost 1¼, Caterpillar 1¼, Boeing 1¼, RCA 1, Anaconda 1⅛, International Nickel 1½, Union Carbide 1¼, Control Data 2¼, Procter & Gamble 2, Xerox 2, Standard Oil of California 2⅛, Standard Oil New Jersey 1¼, Texaco 1 and Johns-Manville 1⅜.

The New York Stock Exchange index fell 24 cents to $53.53.

Prices declined again on the American Stock Exchange.

Soybeans Slump In Grain Market

Chicago (AP) — Soybeans futures declined more than 1 cent a bushel on the Chicago Board of Trade Wednesday and all other grain futures prices closed on an irregular tone.

The principal influence on the decline was a U.S. Department of Agriculture report, issued late Tuesday, on grain production by farmers this year.

The report estimated corn production at a record 4.717 billion bushels, wheat production at a record 1.553 billion bushels and soybeans production at a record 993 million bushels.

When grain trade closed, wheat ¼ cent lower to ⅛ cent higher, December 1.53½-¾; corn was unchanged to ½ cent lower, December 1.13½-¾; oats were unchanged to ⅛ lower, December 70⅞-71 cents; rye was unchanged to ½ higher, December 1.18½ and soybeans were ⅛ to 1⅜ lower, November 2.65-65⅛.

Peace Pilgrim Walking Toward 'Goal'

By GARY CLAXTON
Star Staff Writer

Her name is Peace Pilgrim.

"I use that name to emphasize the pilgrimage rather than the person," she said. "I never give my old name now.

"I don't mind if you ask my age," she continued. "After you find inner peace, you are ageless."

And with that overture, Peace Pilgrim discussed the last 15 years of her life that has earned her the right to wear a tunic reading "25,000 miles on foot for world peace."

'Endless Energy'

"I have the endless energy that comes with inner peace," she said. "It never runs out."

That is probably fortunate. She now continues walking with all of her possessions in her pockets, no longer counting miles, and vowing" . . . to remain a wanderer until mankind has learned the way of peace, walking until I am given shelter and fasting until I am given food."

She didn't speak as an evangelist, and said she is and always has been nondenominational. ("My record is seven sermons on a Sunday," she said.)

'Religious Principle'

"I'm not politically oriented (although people should vote and make sure proper candidates are nominated)," she said. "I'm religiously oriented. I'm for peace as a religious principle, not as a matter of political expediency."

However, she said she expects to see international peace during her lifetime. And she added that she feels international problems can be resolved before national stability is reached.

"Just as a human life that is trying to reach a higher life has problems, so a nation that is trying to reach a higher life has problems. There wasn't perfect peace in cities when they became states. And there wasn't perfect peace in the states when they became a nation. And there doesn't have to be perfect peace in the nations to gain perfect peace in the world," she said.

However, she said education " . . . toward the good of every individual despite superficial differences" was necessary to counter "retrogression of the civil rights movement as the result of violence."

Violence A Setback

"The goals would have been reached much sooner if the violence hadn't crept in," she said. "This is a terrible setback for the civil rights movement which I'm very sorry about."

She expressed a plan for the settlement of the war in Vietnam. She said the United States should:

—stop bombing and ask a group of neutrals to come into Vietnam to supervise the holding of nationwide elections.

— move out of Vietnam and let the neutrals move out when the elections and other details are completed, leaving the affairs of the state in the hands of its leaders.

U.N. Function

—allow peace-keeping missions to be a function of the United Nations.

She said there has been some progress since she began her pilgrimage in 1953.

She said her philosophy has been partially implemented through agencies such as the People to People Program for meeting perople, college and university grants for research and "war prevention through the Peace Corps.

Leaders Immature

"It sure would be nice to have leaders who have found inner peace," she said. "But our leaders reflect the immaturity of the people."

She said that immaturity was the result of psychological conditioning.

"Little boys play with toy guns, older boys play with real guns and on TV, the hero shoots the villain," she said.

She explained she believes the cessation of international violence is the next step towards peace.

"The chaos in the world around us is a reflection of the inharmony within ourselves," she said. "Each one of us has his own little job to do. My job is being a pilgrim to rouse people from their apathy."

Peace Pilgrim will speak at the 11 a.m. Sunday service at the Unitarian Church, 6500 A.

Pop Singer To Auction Property

Memphis, Tenn. (AP) — Elvis Presley is going to auction off some of his property.

It's not that the millionaire entertainer needs the meney. But he has decided to quit the cattle business and raise horses instead.

The auction is scheduled for 10 a.m. Nov. 4 at Presley's Circle G Ranch near Horn Lake, Miss. Auctioneer Don Smith says Elvis has agreed to let other farmers in the area bring surplus equipment to be auctioned off at the same time.

Among the Presley items that will go up for bid are five house trailers that have been used by guests of Elvis, farm implements and equipment, television sets, a coffee bar and matching chairs, desks and lounges.

But one favorite Presley item isn't expected to find a ready buyer among the average farmers in the area. That's a five-horsepower cart built especially for Elvis and valued at $12,000.

Wife Of Former Grid Star Dies

Mrs. Virginia Nagle, 38, wife of former Cornhusker passing ace Francis J. (Fran) Nagle, died Monday at University Hospital in Madison, Wis.

Mrs. Nagle, a 1951 graduate of the University of Nebraska, was the 1951 Ivy Day May Queen at the university. She was active in many campus activities. Mrs. Nagle also served on the Doan College teaching staff when her husband was football coach and director of physical education there.

Nagle was a stand-out quarterback for the Cornhuskers in 1950 and played in the 1951 All-Star and East-West games. He resigned his position at Doane in 1955 to attend graduate school at Boston University.

Mrs. Nagle is survived by her husband, three children, a brother and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Milton H. Koch of Lincoln.

Honor Students Told At Whittier

Whittier Junior High paid tribute to 23 ninth graders and 24 eighth graders who were listed on all three honor rolls of citizenship, scholarship and attendance at a recent Honors Assembly.

Twenty ninth graders were cited for their academic average in the top 10% of the class. Each had a grade of 1.91 or higher.

Twenty-four eighth graders were named as the top 10% in the class for scholarship with an average of 1.83 or higher.

Israel Downs Egyptian MIG

Tel Aviv (AP) — Israeli fighters shot down an Egyptian MIG-21 jet over the Suez Canal zone Wednesday in a dogfight, the army announced here.

Another Soviet-built MIG returned to the Egyptian-held west bank of the canal ceasefire line, a spokesman reported.

It was believed the two MIGs were on a reconnaissance mission.

Pioneer Aviator Dies In Florida

Miami, Fla. (AP) — Ret. Rear Adm. Albert C. Read, who commanded the first plane to fly the Atlantic Ocean, died Tuesday. He was 80.

Read, a lieutenant commander at the time of his historic flight, and five other Navy and Coast Guard airmen, took off May 8, 1919, from Rockaway, N.Y.

They stopped in Nova Scotia in the plane, called an NC4, before landing at Plymouth, England, May 31. The total distance was 4,500 miles.

After his Atlantic flight, Read received the Distinguished Service Medal. In 1965, he was elected to the Aviation Hall of Fame in Dayton, Ohio.

He will be buried in Arlington National Cemetery near Washingoon, D. C., Friday.

Prison Term Cut For Red Author

Belgrade, Yugoslavia (AP) — Mihajlo Mihajlov, 33, a writer who criticized the Communist regime, has had a year lopped off his 4½-year sentence by the Supreme Court of Serbia.

Mihajlov was convicted in April of "spreading hostile propaganda" in articles he published abroad. He charged at his trial that it was the Communist Party, not he, that had violated the law.

An outspoken foe of the Communist one-party system, Mihajlov has been in trouble with President Tito's government for the past two years. It was his third conviction in that time.

Classified Display

This ad is addressed to a live-wire young man or couple with some experience in the drive-in restaurant field.

We have a client who desires to obtain such a young man or couple on a basis that will assure quick financial independence.

You would start as assistant manager & receive training which would permit you to act as manager within 12 months of a soundly profitable, financially stable, long established franchise & drive-in which has unusual opportunity for coninued growth & expansion. As manager you will share in the profits & acquire the immediate right to purchase all or a part of the business, to be paid for from earnings.

Your starting earnings will be unusually substantial and within 3-5 years you can have lifetime financial security.

The business is located in a pleasant mid-western city under 50,000 population. Aid in establishing your home can be provided if desired.

Cincinnati High School Race Violence Hurts 14

Cincinnati (AP) — Racial violence erupted at Hughes High School Wednesday as 14 youngsters, all whites, were beaten and injured, Cincinnati Police Chief Jacob Schott said.

"Marauding bands of Negroes" roamed the halls carrying various weapons, attacking several whites, and two white girls were stripped of their clothes, Schott told the city council.

A majority of students at the school in the Clifton section of the city are Negroes.

Approximately 25 policemen were called out to quell the violence that apparently broke out after someone pulled a false fire alarm.

Schott said several arrests had been made for extortion and carrying lethal blackjacks and numerous similar weapons.

The extent of the students' injuries was not known.

"When I arrived at the school, I saw a little white girl being stomped, kicked and beaten by a group of 20 Negroes," the police chief said.

Several windows were smashed at the school across the street from the University of Cincinnati and the lunchroom was reportedly destroyed.

Schott reported that scores of youths milled around the outside of the building shouting "Black Power."

Nine Students Hurt; Fighting In 2nd Day

Newark, N.J. (AP)—Nine students were injured and 12 others arrested Wednesday in the second consecutive day of fighting at Barringer High School.

The school, largest in the city, has about 20% nonwhite students.

Trouble started at the high school Tuesday. Wednesday morning, Principal William R. Cain called three special assemblies at which he urged students to cooperate with school officials and "avoid incidents which bring discredit to the school."

Police Capt. Bruno Barillari said sporadic fighting began in the morning with "someone slapping someone else here, somebody hitting someone with a chair there." Several girls were among those slapped, he added.

He said: "The groups were from different parts of the area—Negro on one hand and white on the other, although I wouldn't call it exactly a racial situation."

Plane In Service

Mine Is Opened; Streets Flooded

Montgomery, W. Va. (AP) — Streets in the east end of this south-central West Virginia community were under four and five feet of water Wednesday night after a water-filled coal mine which had been closed for 40 years was accidentally opened. No injuries were reported.

Rising Costs Could Lower Doctor Visits

Washington (AP) — If doctors' fees continue their sharp rise, Americans will simply not go to doctors as often, says a federal official.

"If people are dissatisfied with the price of bread, they go and eat potatoes," said Wilbur J. Cohen, undersecretary of health, education and welfare.

While granting that there is no perfect substitute for a physician's care, Cohen said in an interview there could be a considerable reduction in the number of visits to the doctor's office.

Doctors' fees rose by 7.8% in 1966. And the latest Bureau of Labor Statistics figures, for August, show an increase of 8.9% over August 1966.

L.A. Times Mirror Co. Told To Divest Itself Of San Bernardino Sun

Los Angeles (AP) The Times Mirror Co. was ordered by U.S. District Court Wednesday to divest itself of the San Bernardino Sun newspapers which it purchased for $15 million in June 1964.

Acquisition and ownership of stock in the Sun Co. by the Los Angeles firm "is in violation of Section 7 of the Clayton (antitrust) Act," said Judge Warren J. Ferguson.

Ferguson gave the Times Mirror Co. 60 days to submit a plan of divestiture.

Times Mirror executives had announced previously that they would appeal to the U.S. Supreme Court if necessary any decision unfavorable to them.

The Times Mirror Co. publishes the Los Angeles Times. The Sun Co. publishes the morning Sun the Evening Telegram and the Sunday Sun-Telegram in San Bernardino County, which adjoins Los Angeles County. It was argued during the trial that the combination of the two publishing enterprises tended to reduce competition.

Ferguson declined to issue a permenent injunction that would bar Times Mirror from purchasing any other newspaper in California, as requested by the government.

Ferguson commented in his decision:

"The acquisition has raised a barrier to entry of newspapers in the San Bernardino County market that is almost impossible to overcome. The evidence discloses the market has now been closed tight and no publisher will risk the expense of unilaterally starting a new daily newspaper there."
